Readings from the Old Testament, and Phrase Book 1913

excerpt from readings from the apocrypha the object of this little book is very simple it is to familiarize english readers with the treasures contained in the deutero canonical writings which we call the apocrypha the church of england it is true in her lectionary requires certain passages of these writings to be read in churches but as these passages are not read on sundays few people know much about them i have made the authorized version the basis of the text here printed but in places where it is plainly faulty i have tried to mend its defects because it is my blood birthright 2 gabrielle zevin on the material supplied by the notes in c j ball s variorum apocrypha an in valuable book charles s two sumptuous volumes apocrypha and pseudepigrapha of the old testa ment and on the help afforded by the revised version of the apocrypha though i have used the last somewhat sparingly about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works excerpt from readings from the best authors the extracts which form this second part of readings from the best authors have been selected mainly with a regard to their suitability as exercises in elocution for the members of middle and upper classes in schools and thus while many of them are of a higher order than the specimens of part i it has nevertheless been deemed essential that each piece should exhibit some of the following characteristics 1st that the subject be one which boys can thoroughly appreciate and which may therefore largely enlist their sympathies 2d that the subject be so treated that the thoughts and imagery may be readily apprehended and speedily brought home to the heart and the feelings for it cannot be expected that those portions of an author which require for their comprehension a laborious and minute explanation on the part of the teacher and a great exercise of thought on the part of the pupil can be read with spirit and with taste 3d that strongly marked rhetorical peculiarities abound so that the young may be early taught to avoid a monotonous and unimpressive style of reading to each piece has been prefixed a very brief notice of its author and when necessary of the circumstances under which it was written a few notes have been added to explain the more obscure references but it has been judged best for the interests of both teacher and pupil to limit these within narrow bounds about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
