the argument of noir fiction and film is curiously counterintuitive that in a century of hard boiled fiction and detective films characteristics that at first seemed trivial swelled in importance flourishing into crucial aspects of the genre among these are aimless descriptions of people and places irrelevant to plot along with detectives consisting of little more than

who wrote books examining connections between the qur ān on the one hand and biblical passages and aramaic terminology on the other as well as modern western scholars including sidney griffith who argue that pre islamic arabs accessed the bible in aramaic the qur ān and the aramaic gospel traditions examines the history of religious movements in the middle east from 180 632 ce explaining islam as a response to the disunity of the aramaic speaking churches it then compares the arabic text of the qur ān and the aramaic text of the gospels under four main themes the prophets the clergy the divine and the apocalypse among the findings of this book are that the articulator as well as audience of the qur ān were monotheistic in origin probably bilingual culturally sophisticated and accustomed to the theological debates that raged between the aramaic speaking churches arguing that the qur ān s teachings and ethics echo jewish christian conservatism this book will be of interest to students and scholars of religion history and literature
