and he had his family matthew worked hard and provided very well for his family just two weeks before jesus took him home he told me momma i have paid off my house my vehicles and my land we had just talked about his future and how he had it made matthew loved the lord and his family and looked forward to a happy future just two weeks later we had to look grief square in the eye diane cole has jesus are wounds that heal a few seconds ago i wanted to die now i know the reality is i just don t want to live i never have from the moment i started falling twenty one and a half years ago i m alive shit jeff randall originally wrote his memoir by hand the ink spattering on the page whenever he was writing about something painful and looping beautifully whenever he was recalling happier moments he wrote it in a matter of weeks and delivered it to his estranged wife in an attempt to explain the demons that had haunted him for so long and that had been responsible for destroying their relationship love hurts is the powerful true story of a boy whose tormented childhood was characterized by violence and isolation he was raised in a fragmented chaotic family in a world where debt and poverty were the norm from a young age he yearned to escape but was sucked into an ever decreasing spiral of bad choices and self loathing this brutally honest book charts the life of a boy who just wanted to be loved but when love eventually came he was too damaged to recognise it only by confronting the nightmare of his childhood and coming to terms with his past has he been able to stop his downward spiral god won t give you more than you can handle this is one of the most common and least helpful reassurances floating around christian circles it is anything but biblical the truth is that god does allow a lot more than we can handle but why nate pyle has walked through tragedy in his own life professional uncertainty the intense impact of mental illness and the struggle to build a family because of a lost pregnancy infertility and adoption as a pastor nate has cried with countless people experiencing deep and overwhelming pain they want answers but perhaps even more they want someone to sit with them as they lament cliché christianity tells us not to ask questions in hard times yet transformation awaits us in the dark night of the soul in more than you can handle nate asks with you god where are you in this pain why don t you step in and act because when we courageously bring all of who we are to all of who god is and stop pretending we can handle life we encounter the god of redemption the good news isn t that we can handle everything but rather that god promises to be with us at the very moments we can t handle anything skillfully weaving together his own story the stories of others and a powerful look at the life of jesus nate delivers a fresh and timely response to the pain we each experience as nate reminds us the only thing more overwhelming than the Love Hurts 2019-03-05

i cried out to god for help i cried out to god to hear me when i was in distress i sought the lord at night i stretched out untiring hands and my soul refused to be comforted psalm 77 many christians struggle with prayer and most of us are afraid to talk about it writes w bingham hunter in the opening of this brief honest and comforting booklet he continues god commands us to pray 1thes 5 17 and prayer is one of the deep desires of the redeemed heart but we are stalked by the cynicism and skepticism in our culture and assailed by doubt the disappointments of unanswered prayer erode our faith and discourage persistence the pervasive presence of disaster evil and injustice make us angry pain and suffering magnify such feelings and may completely overwhelm the ability to pray in teaching on prayer the truths of scripture are often replaced by sweet thoughts and speculation and opportunities for honesty about what pain and suffering do to us are avoided however what theologians and philosophers call the problem of pain has challenged the people of god from their earliest days there are people for whom it is largely an intellectual issue but for most of us suffering is personal pain may be physical or mental sorrow and suffering may be short term or chronic and encounters with evil may be personal or vicarious yet whatever their nature the consequences are often the same much of the time it is impossible to pray and when something does eventually come out the words are questions often filled with anguish and anger here hunter tackles how to pray when life hurts both personally and practically drawing on his own experiences passages from job and psalms and the writings of contemporaries like joseph bayly and philip yancey he offers no simple answers yet he also points to what we can be sure of the historical fact of the cross and the resurrection of the lord jesus christ of his victory over pain evil and death the fact that god took our suffering into himself
