when a dying man spends his last years writing a book people often take notice when the book claims to reveal the secrets of the book of revelation even more interest is generated the apocalypse letter by letter by steven paul has been described as a masterpiece in it the author pens a series of letters to his brother in law to show how the bible contains all the information a reader would need to decode the symbols forms and sequence of events in the apocalypse paul s literary genius is as fascinating as the subject is compelling his unique knowledge of history the church military strategy literary forms and wit and humor combine to take the reader on a tour of the bible s most enigmatic book after being diagnosed with cancer the author sent a series of typewritten letters to his brother in law many of the letters included example passages handwritten in ancient greek to show how translators had often distorted the original meaning of the scripture as paul lay dying in a hospital bed he gave instructions to his brother in law about how to assemble the information he had written into a book alas he had only transmitted half of it when he passed away then handwritten notes were found near his manual typewriter and the brother in law spent the next many months entering the entire project into a computer along with the previously received letters this book offers a diversification model of transplanted languages that facilitates the exploration of external factors and internal changes the general context is the new world and the variety that unfolded in the central highlands and the gulf of mexico herein identified as mexican colonial spanish mcs linguistic corpora provide the evidence of re transmission diffusion metalinguistic awareness and select focused variants the tridimensional approach highlights language data from authentic colonial documents which are connected to socio historical reliefs at particular periods or junctions which explain language variation and the dynamic outcome leading to change from the second letter of hernán cortés seville 1522 to the decades preceding mexican independence 1800 1821 this book examines the variants transplanted from the peninsular tree into mesoamerican lands leveling of sibilants of late medieval spanish direct object masc sing pronouns lo and le pronouns of address vos tu vuestra merced plus plurals imperfect subjunctive endings in se and ra and amerindian loans qualitative and quantitative analyses of variants derived from the peninsular tree show a gradual process of attrition and recovery due to their saliency in the new soil where they were identified with ways of speaking and behaving like spanish speakers from the metropolis the variants analyzed in mcs may appear in other regions of the spanish speaking new world where change may have proceeded at varying or similar rates additional variants are classified as optimal residual e g dizque and popular residual e g vide both types are derived from the medieval peninsular tree but the former are vital across regions and social strata while the latter may be restricted to isolated and or marginal speech communities each of the ten chapters probes into the pertinent variants of mcs and the stage of development by century qualitative and quantitative analyses reveal the trails followed by each select variant from the years of the second letter 1520 1522 of hernán cortés to the end of the colonial period the tridimensional historical sociolinguistic model offers explanations that shed light on the multiple causes of change and the outcome that eventually differentiated peninsular spanish tree from new world spanish focused attrition variants were selected because in the process of transplantation speakers assigned them a social meaning that eventually differentiated the european from the latin american variety the core chapters include narratives of both major historical events e g the conquest of mexico and tales related to major language change and identity change e g the socio political and cultural struggles of spanish speakers born in the new world the core chapters also describe the strategies used by prevailing spanish speakers to gain new speakers among the indigenous and afro hispanic populations such as the appropriation of public posts where the need arose to file documents in both spanish and nahuatl forced and free labor in agriculture construction and the textile industry the examples of optimal and popular residual variants illustrate the trends unfolded during three centuries of colonial life many of them have passed the test of time and have survived in the present mexican territory others are also vital in the u s southwestern states that once belonged to mexico the reader may also identify those that are used beyond the area of mexican influence residual variants of new world spanish not only corroborate the homogeneity of spanish in the colonies of the western hemisphere but the speech patterns that were unwrapped by the speakers since the beginning of colonial times popular and cultured spanish point to diglossia in monolingual and multilingual communities after one hundred years of study in linguistics this book contributes to the advancement of newer conceptualization of diachrony which is concerned with the development and evolution through history the additional sociolinguistic dimension offers views of social significant and its thrilling links to social movements that provoked a radical change of identity the amplitude of the diversification model is convenient to test it in varied contexts where transplantation occurred in recent peace initiative a common word in muslim christian relations emphasis on the way forward between islam and christianity has been a frantic call to love of god and love of neighbor this call argued in this book provokes rival and parallel logic in the concepts of monotheism between christian religious leaders and scholars on the one hand and islamic religious leaders and scholars on the other using in places the framework of critical discourse analysis cda the author analyzes some text extracts from a common word in order to expose the underlying problems of ideologies dichotomies identity constructions and orthodoxy claims that are associated with the islamic tawhid and christian trinity drawing from various conferences and workshops convened by both religious communities as well as some social scientist insights this book finds authentic communication in muslim christian relations grounded in recognition and acceptance of the differences between islam and christianity recognizing the ideological issues in the usage of the oppositional pronouns us muslims and you christians as suggesting dichotomy the author suggests rather the education of both muslims and christians starting from the kindergarten on the religion and beliefs of the other and to re interpret and revise conflicting qur anic and biblical issues pertaining to muslim christian relations

2 thessalonians is one of the most enigmatic letters in the new testament primarily because of its repeated insistence on its authorship by paul coupled with its warnings against forgery of pauline letters modern scholarship has made a number of advances in the study of this letter but the question of the authorship and purpose remain quite open hughes gives a detailed investigation of graeco roman rhetorical traditions and their relationship to letters and develops a consensus model for the identification of the various conventional parts of rhetorical discourses he then offers an interpretation of 2 thessalonians according to these rhetorical traditions given the rhetoric thus identified in the letter an innovative theory is developed against paul s authorship of 2 thessalonians in his final chapters he suggests ways in which the pseudo pauline letters of the new testament witness to a multiplicity of pauline theologies after the apostle s death a diverse and pluriform legacy of paul the writing of letters often evokes associations of a single author and a single addressee who share in the exchange of intimate thoughts across distances of space and time this model underwrites such iconic notions as the letter representing an image of the soul of the author or constituting one half of a dialogue however justified this conception of letter writing may be in particular instances it tends to marginalize a range of issues that were central to epistolary communication in the ancient world and have yet to receive sustained and systematic investigation in particular it overlooks the fact that letters frequently presuppose and were designed to reinforce communities or indeed to constitute them in the first place this volume explores the interrelation of letters and communities in the ancient world examining how epistolary communication aided in the construction and cultivation of group identities and communities whether social political religious ethnic or philosophical a theoretically informed introduction establishes the interface of epistolary discourse and group formation as a vital but hitherto neglected area of research and is followed by thirteen case studies offering multi disciplinary perspectives from four key cultural configurations greece rome judaism and christianity the first part opens the volume with two chapters on the theory and practice of epistolary communication that focus on ancient epistolary theory and the unavoidable presence of a letter carrier who introduces a communal aspect into any correspondence while the second comprises five chapters that explore configurations of power and epistolary communication in the greek and roman worlds from the archaic period to the end of the hellenistic age five chapters on letters and communities in ancient judaism and early christianity follow in the third part before the volume concludes with an envoi examining the trans historical or indeed timeless philosophical community seneca the younger construes in his letters to lucilius
