"Toubab La!" Literary Representations of Mixed-Race Characters in the African Diaspora 2009-05-05 the book is an examination of mixed race characters from writers in the united states the french and british caribbean islands martinique guadeloupe st lucia and jamaica europe france and england and africa burkina faso south africa botswana and senegal the objective of this study is to capture a realistic view of the literature of the african diaspora as it pertains to biracial and multiracial people for example the expression toubab la as used in the title is from the wolof ethnic group in senegal west africa it means this is a white person or this is a black person who looks or acts white it is used as a metaphor to illustrate multiethnic people s plight in many areas of the african diaspora and how it has evolved the analysis addresses the different ways multiracial characters look at the world and how the world looks at them these characters experience historical economic sociological and emotional realities in various environments from either white or black people their lineage as both white and black determines a new self making them constantly search for their identity each section of the manuscript provides an in depth analysis of specific authors novels that is a window into their true experiences the first section is a study of mixed race characters in three acclaimed contemporary novels from the united states james mcbride s The Color of Water 1996 danzy senna s Caucasia 1998 and rebecca walker s Black White and Jewish 2001 reveal the conflicting dynamics of being biracial in today s american society the second section is an examination of mixed race characters in the following french caribbean novels mayotte capécia s I Am a Martinican Woman 1948 michèle lacrosil s Cajou 1961 and ravines du devant jour 1993 by raphaël confiant section three is about their literary representations in derek walcott s What the Twilight Says 1970 Another Life 1973 Dream on Monkey Mountain 1967 and michelle cliff s Abeng 1995 from the british caribbean islands section four is an in depth analysis of their plight in novels written by contemporary mulatto writers from europe such as marie n diaye s Among Family 1997 zadie smith s White Teeth 2000 and bernardine evaristo s Lara 1997 finally the last section of the book is a study of novels from west african and south african writers the analysis of monique ilboudo s Le Mal de Peau 2001 bessie head s A Woman Alone autobiographical writings 1990 and abdoulaye sadi s Nini Mulâtresse du Sénégal 1947 concludes this literary journey that takes the readers through several continents at different points in time overall this comprehensive study of mixed race characters in the literature of the african diaspora reveals not only the old but also the new ways they decline contest and refuse racial clichés likewise the book unveils how these characters resist create reappropriate and revise fixed forms of identity in the african diaspora of the 20th and 21st century most importantly it is also an examination of how the authors themselves deal with the complex reality of a multiracial identity

Giving Voice 2017-01-20 how communication technologies meant to empower people with speech disorders to give voice to the voiceless are still subject to disempowering structural inequalities mobile technologies are often hailed as a way to give voice to the voiceless behind the praise though are beliefs about technology as a gateway to opportunity and voice as a metaphor for agency and self representation in Giving Voice meryl alper explores these assumptions by looking closely at one such case the use of the apple ipad and mobile app proloquo2go which converts icons and text into synthetic speech by children with disabilities including autism and cerebral palsy and their families she finds that despite claims to empowerment the hardware and software are still subject to disempowering structural inequalities views of technology as a great equalizer she illustrates rarely account for all the ways that culture law policy and even technology itself can reinforce disparity particularly for those with disabilities alper explores among other things alternative understandings of voice the surprising sociotechnical importance of the ipad case and convergences and divergences in the lives of parents across class she shows that working class and low income parents understand the app and other communication technologies differently from upper and middle class parents and that the institutional ecosystem reflects a bias toward those more privileged handing someone a talking tablet computer does not in itself give that person a voice alper finds that the ability to mobilize social economic and cultural capital shapes the extent to which individuals can not only speak but be heard
