unfinished austen examines four texts that jane austen left incomplete catharine or the bower 1792 3 lady susan 1795 the watsons 1803 4 and sanditon 1817 none of them published till well after her death since very little in manuscript form survives from the six famous novels these four manuscript texts offer insight into the novelist in the process of creation they also problematize the romance plot prominent in the published novels by presenting this in a nebulous or incipient state that underlines its artificiality these texts sometimes show how the romance plot is inflected by the financial condition in which young marriageable women can find themselves moreover the stories other than catharine have aroused the interest of many later writers including writers for theatre and screen who are eager to complete or to amplify them they may do this through developing the stories to some kind of dénouement perhaps more intriguingly however these texts induce some writers to question the very enterprise of concluding an unfinished text a powerful examination of how property shaped the modern world and why it now threatens the freedoms and stability it was meant to sustain property carries a great promise that it will make you rich and set you free but it is also a weapon an agent of displacement and exploitation the currency of kleptocrats and oligarchs in britain it has led to a new class division between those who own and those who don t property is a vivid far reaching analysis of our concept of property ownership from 16th century enclosures to the present day it tells powerful stories of life in the developer led boomtown of gurgaon in india of the struggles to form black communities in missouri and georgia of a giant experiment in co operative living in the bronx of the impacts of margaret thatcher s property owning democracy above all property asks how we have come to view our homes as investments and it offers hope for how things could be better with reform that might enable the social wealth of property to be returned to society
