mood and dream foreshadow the ideal effectiveness of our soul on behalf of ourselves and others they indicate for us each in its own way that an operational soul is available for us and places in our hands the means whereby we may arrive at or attain to this greatest of all benefits within reach of every human being it makes sense that once we have worked our way through this possibility a few times we will be much less afraid of and less vulnerable in the presence of depressions and elations in ourselves and others while images and symbols as we accidentally produce them ourselves and as they crop up like weeds all around us will cause us less anxiety and tempt us less frequently in a long dead language isolate such as hurrian grammatical studies are replete with difficulties the paucity of material and our inability to compare it to modern well documented languages typically results in more questions than answers many posited answers to these questions lead inevitably to dead ends studies in languages such as hurrian run the risk of either stagnating due to an adherence to the status quo by scholars or fragmenting when no two scholars can or will agree on any point in this book campbell has in many ways broken with tradition in an attempt to go beneath the surface and reveal further complexities in hurrian grammar this work the first english language monograph on hurrian since 1941 is not a dogmatic treatise meant to counter the status quo but an exploration of the complexities of the hurrian language from a new perspective his conclusions may challenge present perceptions but the hope is that they will in turn inspire challenges for it is only in this way that our understanding of this wonderful language and the people who spoke it can be furthered mood and modality in hurrian provides a formal and functional analysis of the hurrian modal morphemes unlike the better known semitic and indo european languages of the ancient near east hurrian has a rich complement of modal endings this at times bewildering variety in form and function of modal morphemes in hurrian has been a largely unstudied topic although it has been touched upon in a number of studies it has not received a detailed treatment until now beyond a philological treatment of a dead language campbell also adds to the accumulated knowledge of ergativity this book explores the interplay between ergativity and modality in hurrian furthermore campbell explores the issue of voice in hurrian and its relation to modality

i ll never want to draw anyone else but you you are my muse without you there is no art in me with her pale luminous skin and cloud of copper colored hair nineteen year old lizzie siddal looks nothing like the rosy cheeked ideal of victorian beauty working in a london milliner s shop lizzie stitches elegant bonnets destined for wealthier young women until a chance meeting brings her to the attention of painter and poet dante gabriel rossetti enchanted both by her ethereal appearance and her artistic ambitions quite out of place for a shop girl rossetti draws her into his glittering world of salons and bohemian soirees lizzie begins to sit for some of the most celebrated members of the pre raphaelite brotherhood posing for john everett millais as shakespeare s ophelia for william holman hunt and especially for rossetti who immortalizes her in countless paintings as his namesake s beloved beatrice the passionate visions rossetti creates on canvas are echoed in their intense affair but while lizzie strives to establish herself as a painter and poet in her own right betrayal illness and addiction leave her struggling to save her marriage and her sense of self rita cameron weaves historical figures and vivid details into a complex unconventional love story giving voice to one of the most influential yet overlooked figures of a fascinating era a woman who is both artist and inspiration long gazed upon but until now never fully seen an excerpt from ophelia s muse rossetti stood behind the canvas pretending to study deverell s painting while he admired its model despite deverell s enthusiastic descriptions rossetti was completely unprepared for the glorious woman before him she seemed to be from another age as if she had sprung to life from an antique painting of an italian saint seated before the window her hair cast a slight golden glow in the afternoon sun like a halo she could not have been more perfect if he had sculpted her from marble with his own hands deverell claimed that he had found the perfect viola but this girl was far too beautiful to pose as some love sick page she was clearly meant to sit for the great heroines of history and myth and rossetti vowed to paint her as a queen miss siddal has anyone ever told you that you were surely crafted by the gods in order to be painted if you don t believe that yours is a beauty for the ages you underestimate yourself the force of his words struck lizzie and she wondered if he was serious and if it could be true was this the thing that she had always been waiting for was she really meant to inspire great artists her head buzzed with the possibility but the very allure of the idea felt dangerous
