This is an annotated list of about 7500 names of plants, mostly Latin binomials, that have been generated during the last 200 years as a result of the activities of an official Spanish expedition devoted to natural history that began its work in Mexico in 1787 and closed out its work in the New World in 1803. The relevant names, whether officially published or existing only as manuscript names, are those that usefully can be documented to some degree in order that a researcher may hope to identify the plant to which a name applies. Identification of the plants may be possible if their original geographic source is known, if an associated carefully drawn description, detailed illustration, or a preserved specimen is available, or from a combination of the above.

The British Expedition to the Crimea 1877

during the peloponnesian war the athenians occupied the promontory of pylos to counter sparta s repeated invasions of attica over two days of fighting the small garrison beat off the spartan army and the returning athenian fleet won a crushing victory in the nearby waters stranding a contingent of elite spartan hoplites on the island of sphacteria with the campaigning season drawing to a close the athenians mounted an attack on the island using an unconventional amphibious night assault they overran the spartan outpost covering the beaches and light armed missile troops landed at daybreak in overwhelming numbers the spartans were slowly driven back to their stronghold losing men steadily as they were prevented from engaging in the hand to hand fighting at which they excelled with their commander dead and his deputy incapacitated by wounds the 292 survivors surrendered this was a surprising blow to the spartans glorious reputation and these prestigious prisoners of war served the athenians very well as bargaining counters in the diplomatic activity that punctuated the hostilities that continued for the next four years
