military thought of asia challenges the assertion that the generation of rational secular ideas about the conduct of warfare is the preserve of the west by analysing the history of ideas of warfare in asia from the ancient period to the present the volume takes a transcontinental and comparative approach to provide a broad overview of the evolution of military thought in asia the military traditions and theories which have emerged in different parts of eurasia throughout history are products of geopolitics and unique to the different regions the book considers the systematic and tight representation of ideas by famous figures including kautlya and sun tzu at the same time it also highlights publications on military affairs by small men like mid ranking officers and scattered ideas regarding the origin nature and societal impact of organised violence present in miscellaneous sources like coins inscriptions paintings and fictional literature in so doing the book fills a historiographical gap in scholarship on military thought which marginalises asia to the part of cameo and historicises the evolution of theory and the praxis of warfare the volume shows that the east has a long unbroken tradition of conceptualising war and its place in society from the classical era to the information age it is essential reading for those interested in the evolution of military thought throughout history particularly in asia

Military Thought of Asia 2005 united states army issues background bibliography

The Herald 1926 how does religion shape the modern battlefield ron e hassner proposes that religion acts as a force multiplier both enabling and constraining military operations this is true not only for religiously radicalized fighters but also for professional soldiers in the last century religion has influenced modern militaries in the timing of attacks the selection of targets for assault the zeal with which units execute their mission and the ability of individual soldiers to face the challenge of war religious ideas have not provided the reasons why conventional militaries fight but religious practices have influenced their ability to do so effectively in religion on the battlefield hassner focuses on the everyday practice of religion in a military context the prayers rituals fasts and feasts of the religious practitioners who make up the bulk of the adversaries bystanders and observers during armed conflicts to show that religious practices have influenced battlefield decision making hassner draws most of his examples from major wars involving western militaries they include british soldiers in the trenches of world war i u s pilots in world war ii and u s marines in iraq and afghanistan hassner shows that even modern rational and bureaucratized military organizations have taken and must take religious practice into account in the conduct of war

The United States Army 2016-05-18 islamic schools or madrasas have been accused of radicalizing muslims and participating either actively or passively in terrorist networks since the events of 9 11 in pakistan the 2007 siege by government forces of islamabad s red mosque and its madrasa complex whose imam and students staged an armed resistance against the state for its support of the war on terror reinforced concerns about madrasas role in regional and global jihad by 2006 madrasas registered with pakistan s five regulatory boards for religious schools enrolled over one million male and 200 000 female students in the rational believer masooda bano draws on rich interview ethnographic and survey data as well as fieldwork conducted in madrasas throughout the country to explore the network of pakistani madrasas she maps the choices and decisions confronted by students teachers parents and clerics and explains why available choices make participation in jihad appear at times a viable course of action bano works shows that beliefs are rational and that religious believers look to maximize utility in ways not captured by classical rational choice she applies analytical tools from the new institutional economics to explain apparent contradictions in the madrasa system for example how thousands of young pakistani women now demand the national adoption of traditional sharia law despite its highly restrictive limits on female agency and do so from their location in islamic schools for girls that were founded only a generation ago

Religion on the Battlefield 2010-10-18 from the book s context this is a battle study written purposely from the perspective of the marines soldiers and sailors who fought at an najaf in august 2004 some context is needed to fit these events within the evolution of the campaigning in iraq in 2004 the americans deployed to al anbar and an najaf provinces faced a variety of threats as iraq attempted to again govern itself threats were from disparate sources including sunni fighters in fallujah and shi a fighters in najaf behind each was the possibility of al qaeda in iraq or criminal exploitation of any disruption of coalition efforts to establish responsible iraqi government this complexity of threats did not lend itself to easy solutions in march 2004 lieutenant general james t conway s i marine expeditionary force was faced with an outbreak of sunni insurgency in fallujah at the same time a shi s uprising took place across iraq including baghdad najaf an nasiriyah al kut al amarah and kirkuk the fighting spread to karbala hillah and basrah with attacks on iraqi and coalition outposts this fighting dropped off in june with establishment of iraqi interim government of prime minister ayad allawi but the menace of further violence remained

The Syrian Land 2005 violent acts over the past fifteen years have profoundly altered civil rituals cultural identity and the meaning of place in tel aviv three events in particular have shed light on the global rule of urban space in the struggle for territory resources and power the assassination of prime minister rabin in 1995 in the city council square the suicidal bombing at the dolphinarium discothèque along the shoreline in 2001 and bombings in the neve shaanan neighborhood in 2003 tali hatuka uses an interdisciplinary framework of urban theory and sociopolitical theory to shed light on the discourse regarding violent events to include an analysis of the physical space where these events take place she exposes the complex relationships among local groups the state and the city challenging the national discourse by offering a fresh interpretation of contesting forces and their effect on the urban environment perhaps the most valuable contribution of this book is its critical assessment of the current israeli reality which is affected by violent events that continually alter the everyday life of its citizens although these events have been widely publicized by the media there is scant literature focusing on their impact on the urban spaces where people live and meet in addition hatuka shows how sociopolitical events become crucial defining moments in contemporary lived experience allowing us to examine universal questions about the way democracy ideology and memory are manifested in the city
