Atlas of Management Thinking 2017-03-02 attention is a key part of thinking clearly and productively and yet we pay very little attention to attention itself if you see someone lying injured in the middle of the road for example your attention would go to that person but if a bright pink dog wandered past at the same time your attention would automatically stray to the dog that is precisely the weakness of attention it is pulled to the unusual how much attention do we pay to the usual so what can we do about it instead of waiting for attention to be pulled towards something unusual we can set out frameworks for directing our attention in a conscious manner just as we can decide to look north west or even south east so we can set up a framework for directing our attention and that's where edward de bono's six frames come in each frame is a direction or method in which to look based on a different shape triangle circle heart square diamond slab today we are literally surrounded by information and it has never been so easy to obtain yet information itself is not enough it's how we look at it that really counts using the six frames technique is the key to extracting real value from the masses of facts and figures out there and like all de bono's techniques it is simple effective and will utterly change the way you interpret information
