provides facts and information about the travels of meriwether lewis and william clark and their corps of discovery and its importance in relation to native americans and the westward expansion in the united states this book is the result of several years of expedition into the development of metropolitan foodclusters the author s fascination for the agricultural landscapes in and around metropolises led him to the conclusion that improving the efficiency of agriculture is the most effective way to safeguard the quality of such landscapes the wasteful modes of production developed in the past 150 years have led to a serious decline in both the surface area and the quality of the highly valued landscapes closing the loops within the agricultural production system and increasing their productivity is therefore the best remedy to arrest this decline after analysing the development of agriculture against the background of the urbanisation process in today s network society the focus shifts to research by design on agroparks these are spatial clusters of agofunctions and the related economic activities agroparks bring together high productivity plant based and animal based production and processing along industrial lines combined with the input of high levels of knowledge and technology the cycles of water minerals and gases are skillfully closed and the use of fossil energy is minimised particularly by the processing of various flows of waste products and by products an agopark may therefore be seen as the application of industrial ecology in the agrosector the scientific aim of this book is to find answers to the questions of whether agroparks contribute to sustainable development in metropolises how an agopark is developed and how it must be designed under examination are seven designs for agroparks which were created from 2002 onwards in the netherlands china and india through its extensive use of primary source materials and invaluable contextual notes this book offers a documented history of one of the most famous adventures in early american history the lewis and clark expedition this book is the first to situate the lewis and clark expedition within the political and scientific ambitions of thomas jefferson it spans a forty year period in american history from 1783 1832 covering jefferson s early interest in trying to organize an expedition to explore the american west through the difficult negotiations of the louisiana purchase the formation of the corps of discovery the expedition s incredible journey into the unknown and its aftermath the story of the expedition is told not just through the journals and letters of lewis and clark but also through the firsthand accounts of the expedition s other members which included sacagawea a native american woman and york an african american slave the book features more than 100 primary source documents including letters to and from jefferson benjamin rush and others as the expedition was being organized diary excerpts during the expedition and uniquely letters documenting the lives of lewis clark sacagawea and york after the expedition note no further discount for this emergencies on the trail without an attending physician even routine ailments and injuries could have tragic consequences for the expedition s success and the safety of its members of these dangers the most insidious and potentially devastating was the slow painful and oftentimes fatal ravage of venereal disease ø physician thomas p lowry delves into the world of nineteenth century medicine uncovering the expedition s very real fear of venereal disease lewis and clark knew they were unlikely to prevent their men from forming sexual liaisons on the trail so they prepared for the consequences of encounters with potentially infected people as well as the consequences of preexisting disease by stocking themselves with medicine and the latest scientific knowledge from the best minds in america lewis and clark s expedition encountered native peoples who experienced venereal disease as a result of liaisons with french british spanish and canadian travelers and had their own methods for curing its victims or at least for easing the pain it inflicted ø lowry s careful study of the explorers journals sheds new light on this neglected aspect of the expedition showing in detail how sex and venereal disease affected the men and their mission and describes how diverse peoples faced a common threat with the best knowledge and tools at their disposal explains how the space shuttle works and describes a shuttle trip from lift off to touchdown the automotive maven and former member of parliament might be the most trusted man in canada an inverse relationship to the history of their discovery choice in pursuit of early mammals presents the history of the mammals that lived during the mesozoic era the time when dinosaurs ruled the earth and describes their origins anatomy systematics paleobiology and distribution it also tells the story of the author a world renowned specialist on these animals and the other prominent paleontologists who have studied them zofia kielan jaworowska was the first woman to lead large scale paleontological expeditions including eight to the gobi desert in mongolia which brought back important collections of dinosaur early mammal and other fossils she shares the difficulties and pleasures encountered in finding rare fossils and describes the changing views on early mammals made possible by these discoveries a thorough review of the current state of early mammalian paleontology presented through the unique historical filter of someone who was at the foremost of the field for over half a century the quarterly review of biology whether she s talking about how mammals evolved their distinctive ear bones or how she built a cabin out of plywood during a particularly cold field season in the gobi you know that a remarkable passionate person is telling a story of science and adventure in her own words priscum a fascinating window into the development of the field the perspective of an individual at the center of these developments is captivating informative and has never before been published gregory p wilson university of washington with an increase in visits to remote and dangerous locations around the they follow a caribou herd for five months on foot across the yukon and colin angus on his two year quest to become the first person to circumnavigate the world by human power the franklin northwest passage expedition of 1845 is perhaps the greatest disaster in the history of exploration all 129 men vanished as did the expedition s two ships hms erebus and terror over the next 150 years searchers found bones clothing and a variety of relics inuit narratives provided some of the details of what happened to the frozen starving sailors after they deserted their ice locked ships in 1848 then in 2014 and 2016 canadian researchers found the sunken wrecks not far from the bleak windswept king william island in the arctic at last the mystery of the franklin expedition would be solved or would it this book pulls together the various searchers discoveries the many recent scientific studies that shed light on when how and why the men died and whether in extremis they ate each other and illuminates what we know and what we don t and may never know about the fate of the expedition among the voyages of exploration and surveying in the late 18th century that of alejandro malaspina best represents the high ideals and scientific interests of the enlightenment in july 1789 he sailed from cádiz in the purpose built corvettes descubierta and atrevida on board the vessels were scientists and artists and an array of the latest surveying and astronomical instruments the voyage lasted more than five years on his return malaspina began work on seven volume account of the voyage to dwarf the narratives of his predecessors in the pacific such as cook and bougainville but he became involved in political intrigue was imprisoned and then spent the rest of his life in obscure retirement in italy he never resumed work on the great edition and his journal remained long unpublished only now is justice being done to the achievements of what for long was a forgotten voyage this is the final volume of the series of three which presents malaspina s journal for the first time in english translation and with commentary it covers the expedition s return voyage from manila its visits to new zealand australia the tonga islands and the falklands and its arrival in cádiz on 21 september 1794 appendices contain bustamante's survey of east falkland island his visit to puerto de la soledad and his search for islas auroras an account of malaspina's arrest and the suppression of his report and details of the two corvettes with lists of their complement and of the scientific instruments and books taken on the expedition the first major exploration of the north american continent began in florida in april 1528 páñfilo de narváez led an inland expedition with 300 men only four survived the courageous quartet endured an astonishing eight year odyssey traversing more than 3 500 miles from florida to the shores of the pacific ocean one of the survivors Álvaro núñez cabeza de vaca wrote his book the relación in 1542 detailing their amazing journey yet precisely where this expedition began has long been debated by researchers and historians in this book author james e macdougald provides an analysis of published research and a new investigation finally establishing that one of america's most important historic events began in present day st petersburg on the shores of boca ciega bay based on macdougald's years of study he adds a new and independent analysis using research resources not available to many previous historians that details one of the most important spanish expeditions in north america collecting cultures investigates colonial museum collecting practices in indigenous communities based upon the case of the 1948 american australian scientific expedition to arnhem land in 1948 a collection of scientists anthropologists and photographers journeyed to northern australia for a seven month tour of research and discovery now regarded as the last of the big expeditions the american australian scientific expedition to arnhem land was front page news at the time but 60 years later it is virtually unknown this lapse into obscurity was due partly to the fraught politics of australian anthropology and animus towards its leader the adelaide based writer photographer charles mountford promoted as a friendly mission that would foster good relations between australia and its most powerful wartime ally the expedition was sponsored by national geographic the smithsonian institution and the australian government an unlikely cocktail of science diplomacy and popular geography the arnhem land expedition put the aboriginal cultures of the vast arnhem land reserve on an international stage publisher's website the history of anthropology has been written from multiple viewpoints often from perspectives of gender nationality theory or politics before boas delves deeper into issues concerning anthropology's academic origins to present a groundbreaking study that reveals how ethnography and ethnology originated during the eighteenth rather than the nineteenth century developing parallel to anthropology or the natural history of man han f vermeulen explores primary and secondary sources from russia germany austria the united states the netherlands hungary the czech republic slovakia france and great britain in tracing how ethnography originated as field research by german speaking historians and naturalists in siberia russia during the 1730s and 1740s was generalized as ethnology by scholars in göttingen germany and vienna austria during the 1770s and 1780s and was subsequently adopted by researchers in other countries before boas argues that anthropology and ethnology were separate sciences during the age of reason studying racial and ethnic diversity respectively ethnography and ethnology focused not on other cultures but on all peoples of all eras following g w leibniz researchers in these fields categorized peoples primarily according to their languages franz boas professionalized the holistic study of anthropology from the 1880s into the twentieth century sir john franklin's arctic expedition departed england in 1845 with two royal navy bomb vessels 129 men and three years worth of provisions none were seen again until nearly a decade later when their bleached bones broken instruments books papers and personal effects began to be recovered on canada's king william island these relics have since had a life of their own photographed analyzed cataloged and displayed in glass cases in london this book gives a definitive history of their preservation and exhibition from the victorian era to the present richly illustrated with period engravings and photographs many never before published appendices provide the first comprehensive accounting of all expedition relics recovered prior to the 2014 discovery of franklin's ship hms erebus nursing research and statistics e book the modern metropolis has been called the symbol of our times and life in it epitomizes for many modernity itself but what to make of inherited ideas of modernity when faced with life in mexico city and são paulo two of the largest metropolises in the world is their fractured reality their brutal social contrasts and the ever escalating violence faced by their citizens just an intensification of what engels described in the first in depth analysis of an industrial metropolis nineteenth century manchester or have post industrial and neo globalized economies given rise to new forms of urban existence in the so called developing world life in the megalopolis mexico city and são paulo investigates how such questions are explored in cultural productions from these two latin american megalopolises the focus being on literature film popular music and visual arts this book combines close readings of works with a constant reference to theoretical anthropological and social
