this book explores the conjuncture of human agency and divine volition in the biblical narrative sometimes referred to as double causality a commonly held view has it that the biblical narrative shows human action to be determined by divine will yet when reading the biblical narrative we are inclined to hold the actors accountable for their deeds the book then challenges the common assumptions about the sweeping nature of divine causality in the biblical narrative and seeks to do justice to the roles played by the human actors in the drama god s causing a person to act in a particular way as he does when he hardens pharaoh s heart is the exception rather than the rule on the whole the biblical heroes act on their own their personal initiatives and strivings are what move the story forward how does it happen then that events remarkably conspire to realize god s plan the study enlists concepts and theories developed within the framework of contemporary analytic philosophy featured against the background of classical and contemporary bible commentary in addressing the biblical narrative through these perspectives this book holds appeal for scholars of a variety of disciplines bible studies philosophy religion and philosophical theology as well as for those who simply delight in reading the bible
