contemporary aesthetics is characterized by generic mixing on the level of both form and content the barriers between different media and different genres have been broken down in all literary art forms whether it be theatre poetry or the novel while the publishing industry is increasingly keen to label novels according to genre or sub genre chick lit lad lit gay fiction scottish fiction new historical fiction crime fiction post 9 11 fiction the novel itself and novelists persist in resisting generic categorizations as well as inviting them is this a move towards a new artistic liberty or does it simply testify to a confusion of identity the aesthetic supermarket evoked by lodge in 1992 does indeed seem to sum up the variety of choices open to writers of fiction today and a literary landscape characterized by crossover and hybridization the familiar dialectic of realism versus experimentation has segued into a middle ground of consensus which is neither radical nor populist but both at the same time the techniques of postmodernism have become selling points for novels and the postmodern condition itself seems little more than a narrative posture marketed for an increasingly wide audience whether they have recourse to a repertoire of imposture amis self winterson as richard bradford would have it the novel now 2007 in other words the abandonment of any obligation to explain or justify their excursions from credulity and mimesis or like the new puritans make use of narrative minimalism in order to foreground their own peculiarities contemporary novelists consistently draw attention to the fundamental instability of narrative process and genre the much feared apocalypse of the novel has failed to take place with the arrival of the new millennium but generic game playing and flickering narrative hesitation and uncertainty continue to pose the question of what constitutes a novel today and to challenge its identity in a world where all culture is increasingly public increasingly contested and increasingly multifarious thanks to theoretical approaches as well as analyses of specific works this collection of essays aims to examine the concepts of generic instability and cross fertilization of narrative postures and impostures and their constant redefinition of identity which contaminates the very concept of genre it demonstrates the diversity of generic practices in the novel today and furnishes us with undeniable evidence of how generic instability is fundamentally constitutive of the contemporary novel s identity

Muriel Spark's Postmodernism

muriel spark s works often consider the seductive and destructive power of social structures such as religion and education these structures lure spark s characters with their promise of power but after entering the structure s domain to exploit the mastery it offers the characters are imprisoned by rules and codes through a postmodern reading of spark s works such as the comforters 1957 the public image 1968 the driver s seat 1970 reality and dreams 1996 and aiding and abetting 2000 this book analyzes the role of certain social structures in her fiction the volume argues that these attractions and destructions are very much like postmodern critical games with structures that are open to any experimentation but at the same time seem fixed and unchanging within this postmodern context one is free to play games with signs and systems of rules spark s characters enter these games in a playful mood and test their limits the texts images and spectacles haunt their victims who are unable to escape the process of attraction and destruction the characters are eventually led to their death literal or metaphoric which will inevitably introduce them to a new beginning
