Did Richard Duke of York the younger of the Princes on the Tower survive his imprisonment in this revealing new book medieval historian David Baldwin presents an original and intriguing scenario on 27 December 1550 an old man named Richard Plantagenet was buried at Eastwell in Kent he had spent much of his life working as a bricklayer at St John's Abbey Colchester but unusually for a bricklayer he could read Latin reluctant to give any account of his background he eventually told his employer that he was a natural son of Richard III yet if this was true why was he not publicly acknowledged by the king Richard III made provision for his other bastards John of Gloucester and Katherine the fact that he was called Richard Plantagenet is also revealing had he simply been Richard III's bastard he would have been styled of Gloucester or given the name of his birthplace and most tellingly of all where is the evidence that Prince Richard actually died David Baldwin opens up an entirely new line of investigation and offers a startling solution to one of the most enduring mysteries in English history and a final exoneration for Richard III

richard ii s court stella mary newton broke new ground with this detailed study which discusses fourteenth century costume in detail she draws on surviving accounts from the royal courts the evidence of chronicles and poetry often from unpublished manuscripts and representations in painting sculpture and manuscript illumination her exploration of aspects of chivalry particularly the choice of mottoes and devices worn at tournaments and of the exchange of gifts of clothing between reigning monarchs offers new insights into the social history of the times and she has much to say that is relevant to the study of illuminated manuscripts of the fourteenth century stella mary newton s lifelong interest in costume has been the mainspring of her work from early days as a stage and costume designer including designing the costumes for the first production of t s eliot s murder in the cathedral to her later work at the national gallery advising on the implications of costume for the purpose of dating and at the courtauld institute where she set up the department for the study of the history of dress
