The American Pageant 1993-10 over the past fifteen years northeast asia has witnessed growing intraregional exchanges and interactions especially in the realms of culture and economy still the region cannot escape from the burden of history this book examines the formation of historical memory in four northeast asian societies china japan south korea and taiwan and the united states focusing on the period from the beginning of the sino japanese war in 1931 until the formal conclusion of the pacific war with the san francisco peace treaty of 1951 the contributors analyse the recent efforts of korean japanese and chinese scholars to write a common history of northeast asia and question the underlying motivations for their efforts and subsequent achievements in doing so they contend that the greatest obstacle to reconciliation in northeast asia lies in the existence of divided and often conflicting historical memories the book argues that a more fruitful approach lies in understanding how historical memory has evolved in each country and been incorporated into respective master narratives through uncovering the existence of different master narratives it is hoped citizens will develop a more self critical self reflective approach to their own history and that such an introspective effort has the potential to lay the foundation for greater self and mutual understanding and eventual historical reconciliation in the region this book will be essential reading for students and scholars of asian history asian education and international relations in east asia

Asian American Education 2013-01-15 in this provocative book warren a nord argues that public schools and universities leave the vast majority of students religiously illiterate such education is not religiously neutral a matter of constitutional importance indeed it borders on secular indoctrination when measured against the requirements of a good liberal education and the demands of critical thinking nord also argues that religious perspectives must be included in courses that address morality and those big questions that a good education cannot ignore he outlines a variety of civic reasons for studying religion and argues that the establishment clause doesn t just permit but requires taking religion seriously while acknowledging the difficulty of taking religion seriously in schools and universities nord makes a cogent case for requiring both high school and undergraduate students to take a year long course in religious studies and for discussing religion in any course that deals with religiously controversial material the final chapters address how religion might best be addressed in history literature economics and perhaps most controversially science courses he also discusses bible courses and the relevance of religion to moral education and ethics courses while his position will be taken by some as radical he argues that he is advocating a middle way in our culture wars public schools and universities can neither promote religion nor ignore it does god make a difference increases our understanding of a long and heated cultural conflict it also proposes a solution to the problem that is philosophically sound and in the long run eminently practical

Keeping the Republic 2014-11-25 this study argues that the image of union prison officials as negligent and cruel to confederate prisoners is severely flawed it explains how confederate prisoners suffering and death were due to a number of factors but it would seem that yankee apathy and malice were rarely among them
