Public Health Reports 1996 kwasi kwarteng is the child of parents whose lives were shaped as subjects of the british empire first in their native ghana then as british immigrants he brings a unique perspective and impeccable academic credentials to a narrative history of the british empire one that avoids sweeping judgmental condemnation and instead sees the empire for what it was a series of local fiefdoms administered in varying degrees of competence or brutality by a cast of characters as outsized and eccentric as anything conjured by gilbert and sullivan the truth as kwarteng reveals is that there was no such thing as a model for imperial administration instead appointees were schooled in quirky independent minded individuality as a result the empire was the product not of a grand idea but of often chaotic individual improvisation the idiosyncracies of viceroys and soldier diplomats who ran the colonial enterprise continues to impact the world from kashmir to sudan baghdad to hong kong

Index: Foreign Broadcast Information Service 1957 how can two states with enemy relations transform their relationship nicholas wheeler argues that the discipline of international relations has not done a good job of answering this question because its focus has been on the state and the individual levels of analysis in this ground breaking book he argues for the importance of a new level of analysis in trust research the interpersonal relationships between state leaders in doing so he makes two key contributions firstly developing a new theory of interpersonal trust that can be applied to the international level and secondly showing how this theory contributes to the literature on signalling in ir the theory of interpersonal trust developed in the book provides a novel response to the central problem identified by signalling theory in ir whether the receivers of signals interpret them in the way intended by their senders the author argues that in fact trust between two leaders is causally prior to the accurate interpretation of the signals they send with the aim of communicating peaceful intent trust therefore does away with the problem of the ambiguity of signal interpretation he goes on to examine exactly how a new relationship of trust emerges between two leaders who represent states with enemy relations through face to face interaction and the crucial process of bonding between them that this makes possible this powerful new theory of interpersonal trust is applied to three cases the personal interactions between us and soviet leaders ronald reagan and mikhaïl gorbachev in ending the cold war the face to face interactions between indian prime minister atal bihari vajpayee and pakistani prime minister nawaz sharif in reducing conflict between india and pakistan in 1998 1999 and the interactions in 2009 10 between barack obama and ayatollah ali khamenei that failed to achieve a breakthrough in us iran nuclear relations
