this book defends the view that an award of an account of profits or disgorgement damages for breach of contract will sometimes be justifiable and fits within the orthodox principles and cases in contract law however there is some confusion as to when such an award should be made the moral bases for disgorgement damages are deterrence and punishment which shape the remedy in important ways courts are also concerned with vindication of the claimant s performance interest and it is pivotal in these cases that the claimant cannot procure a substitute performance via an award of damages or specific relief the book argues that disgorgement damages should be available in two categories of case second sale cases where the defendant breaches his contract with the claimant to make a more profitable contract with a third party and agency problem cases where the defendant promises the claimant he will not do a certain thing and the claimant finds it difficult to supervise the performance moreover disgorgement may be full or partial and reasonable fee damages for breach of contract are best understood as partial disgorgement rather than restitutionary damages equitable bars to relief should also be adopted in relation to disgorgement damages as should allowances for skill and effort this book will be of interest to contract and commercial lawyers and will be especially valuable to anyone with an interest in contract remedies and restitution it draws on case law in a number of common law jurisdictions primarily england and wales and australia jsl invites the submission of manuscripts that contribute to the exchange of ideas and scholarship about schools and leadership all theoretical and methological approaches are welcome we do not advocate or practice a bias toward any mode of inquiry e g qualitative vs quantitative empirical vs conceptual discipline based vs interdisciplinary and instead operate from the assumption that all careful and methodologically sound research has the potential to contribute to our understanding of school leadership we strongly encourage authors to consider both the local and global implications of their work the journal s goal is to clearly communicate with a diverse audience including both school based and university based educators the journal embraces a board conception of school leadership and welcomes manuscripts that reflect the diversity of ways in which this term is understood the journal is interested not only in manuscripts that focus on administrative leadership in schools and school districts but also in manuscripts that inquire about teacher student parent and community leadership
