Alternative Dispute Resolution 2000 essay from the year 2016 in the subject politics international politics topic public international law and human rights course human rights language english abstract conflicts and disputes are normal and natural in everyday life conflict is not an event it is a process human beings face conflicts always and everywhere at all levels galtung 1996 how conflicts are managed is what makes the difference a common way disputes the world over are resolved is through litigation litigation however is often characterized by delays and other debilitating activities which adversely affect the conflict resolution process and accentuates the popular legal maxim justice delayed is justice denied litigation is also thought to be relatively expensive and too elitist these undoubted flaws that surround litigation led to other means of conflicts resolution collectively termed alternative dispute resolution or adr the legal information institute lii 2014 defines alternative dispute resolution as any method of resolving disputes other than by litigation courts of competence jurisdiction could be directed to review the validity of alternative dispute resolution methods but they will hardly overturn decisions and awards proposed by adr if the disputing parties formed a valid contract to abide by them adr methods or types include mediation negotiation conciliation collaborative law and arbitration adr is arguably a much better option as all stakeholders in a conflict can resolve their own differences by working together to come up with an agreement that satisfies all parties involved this write up will however focus on one of the popular modes of adr called arbitration the write up will look at a brief history of arbitration the meaning of the term arbitration its features and characteristics types and forms merits and demerits and most importantly how arbitration skills could be utilized to address human rights related disputes conflicts and matters

Alternative Dispute Resolution for Organizations 2000-01-10 this volume represents an important new step forward in the fields of conflict resolution and peace studies its essays argue that while conflict resolution is well equipped to bring about temporary settlements and brief periods of peace in volatile situations conventional conflict resolution techniques are not capable of building long term stability instead the authors contend practitioners of conflict resolution need to focus more on reconciliation the restoration of confidence friendship and harmony between rivals than on mere conflict resolution whereas traditional conflict resolution has focused primarily on halting quarrels with agreements between leaders on each side of a conflict reconciliation techniques shift the focus in two ways first they take more of a grassroots approach building agreement among the members of rival communities not only between leaders second reconciliation takes a long term view of dispute resolution while the authors acknowledge that the role of traditional conflict resolution is important in stopping violence and tension they argue that in order to achieve stable peace negotiators and practitioners of conflict resolution must focus much more on what is to be done after an agreement among leaders is reached
