quantum mechanics entails effects like superpositions and entanglement which have no classical counterparts from a technological standpoint these counterintuitive quantum aspects can be viewed as an unexploited resource that can be harnessed to support various tasks e g in the domains of computation communication and metrology in many applications however the potential of nonclassical states cannot practically be exploited due to detection inefficiencies the authors address this limitation by experimentally realizing a novel detection scheme in which entangling interactions are time reversed in this way nonclassical many particle states are disentangled allowing them to be detected in a robust and technically feasible manner in the context of quantum metrology these nonlinear readout techniques extend the class of entangled probe states that can be leveraged for sensing applications without being limited by finite detector resolution the authors present an active atom interferometer where both the entangled state preparation and disentangling readout involve parametric amplification this su 1 1 interferometer is implemented with the help of spinor bose einstein condensates where amplification is implemented by atomic collisions leading to spin exchange take a step back into the dawn of suburban life revisit the era when mothers in print dresses performed the arcane ritual of mixing the colour dot into the margarine fathers filled every room of the house in weston with tobacco smoke and all the riches of america were to be had by buying on time nothing you ever saw on ozzie and harriet ever looked anything like this east european immigrants to toronto in the early fifties dreamed of the good life in the suburbs but they did not have any money so they put up an outhouse dug a pit in a new subdivision threw a roof over the hole and lived there among the lawns and gardens of their neighbours whose imaginations were largely limited to asphalt driveways their neighbours were not amused buying on time is a very funny and occasionally poignant look at growing up in the suburbs in the 1950s and 60s this collection of linked stories follows an immigrant family as it fights to build a house and find a new life in canada after world war ii at the heart of the stories is the old man the irascible insanely self confident pipe smoking father who studies what he calls the english with an incredulity that is wildly comic and who marches into eatons trailing sawdust in order to buy his depressed wife a new fur coat his english is bad and his religion is almost mediaeval yet he has cunning and a zest for life as well as a taste for five star whisky when we say right on time we are speaking of that precise moment when something should be said in gratitude of or for appreciation for a special remark or gesture more often than not one gets overwhelmed at something that was either said or done especially when they least expect it they then struggle with choosing the proper words to express their gratification this may happen when someone says or does something nice for you during a time when you were totally unprepared or there are times when a person feels what they want to say should be more personal or more descriptive by nature you want to say thank you but your brain sits in a state of idle dissolution while you mentally grasp for the proper verbiage and wonder how to say it with elegance and with proper enunciation and meaning if this has ever happened to you maybe right on time poems for the right moment is a book you will relate to
