Early Intervention with High-risk Children 1996 the athletic trainer s guide to psychosocial intervention and referral provides appropriate intervention strategies and referral techniques specific to the role of an athletic trainer to initiate recovery for any patient client experiencing a variety of psychosocial problems such as eating disorders anxiety issues substance abuse response to injury catastrophic injuries ergogenic aids peer pressure and depression jacket

The Athletic Trainer's Guide to Psychosocial Intervention and Referral 2008 in the wake of the charlie gard and alfie evans cases a wide ranging international conversation was started regarding alternative thresholds for intervention and the different balances that can be made in weighing up the rights and interests of the child the parent s rights and responsibilities and the role of medical professionals and the courts this collection provides a comparative perspective on these issues by bringing together analysis from a range of jurisdictions across europe north and south america africa and asia contextualising the differences and similarities and drawing out the cultural and social values that inform the approach in different countries this volume is highly valuable to scholars across jurisdictions not only to inform their own local debate on how best to navigate such cases but also to foster inter jurisdictional debate on the issues the book brings together commentators from the fields of law medical ethics and clinical medicine across the world actively drawing on the view from the clinic as well as philosophical legal and sociological perspectives on the crucial question of who should decide about the fate of a child suffering from a serious illness in doing so the collection offers comprehensive treatment of the key questions around whether the current best interests approach is still appropriate and if not what the alternatives are it engages head on with the concerns seen in both the academic and popular literature that there is a need to reconsider the orthodoxy in this area

Intervention '89 Conference and Exposition 1989 many organisations are changing the structure of some of their internal service departments such as hr and finance to give them a more consultative and strategic role within the company however in many cases this takes place with little thought as to how the new function can be best established and how the individuals themselves need to change in order for it to be successful the book is about helping practitioners understand what is involved in operating as a business partner within an organisation it will help them to assess how to make the transition from working operationally to working in a more strategic position and will equip them with the tools and techniques to help them in their new role for generalist hr practitioners who are about to embark on business partner roles or who are struggling to make a difference in such roles the personal change journey can be made more difficult if people do not know what is involved or understand how hr business partners can make a positive difference to their organisation s success the temptation then to revert to familiar activities can be strong and dangerous to personal and functional credibility the authors draw on their experience of working with hr teams to show what being an hr business partner means in practice they look at the challenges and what can be done to address them and provide practical insights into how to develop the skills and confidence required to really make a difference in business partner roles
