Divided Loyalties 2018-09-27 drawing on extensive ethnographic fieldwork this study explores the ideas of belonging and citizenship among former pro autonomy east timorese who have elected to settle indefinitely in west timor the study follows different east timorese groups and examines various ways they construct and negotiate their socio political identities following the violent and destructive separation from their homeland the east timorese might have had indonesia as their destination when they left the eastern half of the island in the aftermath of the referendum but they have not relinquished their cultural identities as east timorese the study highlights the significance of the notions of origin ancestry and alliance in our understanding of east timorese place making and belonging to a particular locality another feature of belonging that informs east timorese identity is their narrative of sacrifice to maintain connections with their homeland and move on with their lives in indonesia these sacrificial narratives elaborate an east timorese spirit of struggle and resilience a feature further exemplified in the transformation of their political activities within the indonesian political system

Transactions of the Asiatic Society of Japan 1886 this book proposes a reading of john milton s epic paradise lost in relation to four novels by the contemporary novelist salman rushdie the satanic verses the moor s last sigh fury and the ground beneath her feet in such a reading terms such as influence and inheritance will inevitably come up rather than bypass them the book refines such terms in order to meet some of the challenges posed by contemporary critical theory in the field of comparative studies in this more nuanced comparative reading of these texts which looks beyond a linear paradigm jacques derrida s term desterrance is taken up as a means for thinking how the work of this successor rushdie dialogues with milton conferring on the epic an elusive kind of afterlife desterrance will be taken here to signal an ongoing process of re signification of texts that does away with the notions of adhesion or similarity to an original central point in the case of milton and his successor the fictional work of salman rushdie will be seen as constituting sites in which collaboration and contestation in relation to the epic are simultaneously and continually staged rushdie can then be seen to interweave miltonic images of eden of the fall and a satanic discourse of transgression to write territories and characters constituted in the crossings of domains of difference territories in which colonial past and contemporary cultural formations and power structures are continually questioned and negotiated in this way his work enacts a re signifying of milton s text mediating in these deviations the way it reaches us today

Transactions 1881 salman rushdie 1947 has emerged over the years as one of the most controversial figures of our times who excites contrary feelings but whether admired or criticized the fact remains that rushdie with his commitment to struggle for freedom of expression for speech to the silenced for power to the disempowered is a writer who cannot be ignored one of the major preoccupations of rushdie s art is the issue of migrant identity many of his characters are migrants drifting from shore to shore in search of some imaginary homeland and obviously the author identifies himself with his migrant personae search for identity is perhaps the one recurring theme in rushdie s works and the themes of double identity divided selves and shadow figures persist in his writings as correlative for the schismatic dual identity of the migrant as well as the necessary confusion and ambiguity of the migrant existence rushdie describes the world from this unique point of view of the migrant narrator he is also conscious of his role in this regard in re describing the world and thus creating a new vision of art and life by exercising what he describes as the migrant writer s privilege to choose his parents rushdie has chosen his inheritance from a vast repertoire of literary parents including cervantes kafka melville et al his novels and stories derive their special flavour from the author s superb handling of the characteristic postmodern devices like magic realism palimpsest ekphrasis etc rushdie has been rightly compared with such literary innovators stalwarts of our times as gunter grass milan

kundera gabriel garcia marquez et al readers of the present volumes will be taken round the world of rushdie by erudite scholars whose well researched perceptive articles will add substantially to their enjoyment of these fantastic imaginary homelands

Roaming, Wandering, Deviation and Error 2016-03-08 the field of memory studies has long been preoccupied with the manner in which events from the past are commemorated forgotten re fashioned or worked through on both the individual and collective level yet in an age when various modes of artistic and cultural commemoration have begun to overlap with and respond to one another the dynamics of cultural remembering and forgetting become bound up in an increasingly elaborate network of representations that operate both within and outside temporal cultural and national borders as publicly circulating texts that straddle the line between cultural artifact and artistic object both musical and literary works both individually and often in conjunction with one another help shape cultural memories and individual experiences of those events troping their cultural milieux through specific aesthetic and social forms genres and modes of dissemination music and literature become part of a growing global panoply of raw materials upon which we might begin to pose questions regarding the way we remember the consequences of sharing and passing on those memories and the aesthetic and cultural pressures attendant upon the circulation and interpretation of texts that re sound the past

Salman Rushdie 2006 she is called the perfect one the most famous and beautiful woman in the world nefertiti rules equally with her husband the pharaoh akhenaten over the richest most sophisticated and powerful society in the modern world at home the wealthy enjoy their hunts and love affairs their new jewellery and fashions and invest their money in elaborate tombs for the afterlife the rest of the population labour on the land as they have done since time began yet behind the glorious facades of luxury and pleasure an epic power struggle is taking place akhenaten and nefertiti inaugurate an enlightened new religion and build a magnificent and mysterious new capital in the desert in which to worship the god of the sun the delicate balance of power in egypt is thrown into confusion the old priesthood is stripped of its traditional authority and wealth the army is enraged by the growing turbulence on the country's borders and the people resent the loss of the ancient gods old alliances are brought into doubt and generations of inherited power and wealth are suddenly at stake and then shortly before the crucial festival to celebrate the new capital to which rulers and representatives from across the world are invited to attend nefertiti suddenly vanishes rai rahotep the youngest chief detective in the thebes division with a rising reputation for his original methods is secretly assigned by akhenaten himself to investigate he has ten days to find the queen and return her in time for the celebrations success will bring glory but if he fails he and his family will die

The Felgrand Paladin 2020-11-09 this book reads representations of western music in literary texts to reveal the ways in which artifacts of imperial culture function within contemporary world literature bushnell argues that western music s conventions for performance composition and listening established during the colonial period persist in postcolonial thought and practice music from the baroque classical and romantic periods bach through brahms coincides with the rise of colonialism and western music contains imperial attitudes and values embedded within its conventions standards and rules the book focuses on the culture of classical music as reflected in the worlds of characters and texts and contends that its effects outlast the historical significance of the real composers pieces styles and forms through examples by authors such as mcewan vikram seth bernard maclaverty chang rae lee and j m coetzee the book demonstrates how western music enters narrative as both acts of history and as structures of analogy that suggest subject positions human relations and political activity that in turn describes a postcolonial condition the uses to which western music is put in each literary text reveals how european art music of the seventeenth through the nineteenth centuries is read and misread by postcolonial generations exposing mostly hidden cultural structures that influence our contemporary understandings of social relations and hierarchies norms for resolution and for assigning significance and standards of propriety the book presents strategies for thinking anew about the persistence of cultural imperialism reading western music simultaneously as representative of imperial cultural dominance and as suggestive of resistant structures forms and practices that challenge the imperial hegemony
