Medifocus Guidebook On: Cervical Cancer 2015 this guidebook introduces the reader to the visible memorabilia of science and scientists in budapest statues busts plaques buildings and other artefacts according to the hungarian american nobel laureate albert szent gyorgyi this metropolis at the crossroads of europe has a special atmosphere of respect for science it has been the venue of numerous scientific achievements and the cradle literally of many individuals who in hungary and even more beyond its borders became world renowned contributors to science and culture six of the eight chapters of the book cover the hungarian nobel laureates the hungarian academy of sciences the university the medical school agricultural sciences and technology and engineering one chapter is about selected secondary schools from which seven nobel laureates szent gyorgyi de hevesy wigner gabor harsanyi olah and kertes and the five martians of science von karman szilard wigner von neumann and teller had graduated the concluding chapter is devoted to scientist martyrs of the holocaust a special feature in surveying hungarian science is the contributions of scientists that left their homeland before their careers blossomed and made their seminal discoveries elsewhere especially in great britain and the united states the book covers the memorabilia referring to both emigre scientists and those that remained in hungary the discussion is informative and entertaining the coverage is based on the visible memorabilia which are not necessarily proportional with achievements therefore there is a caveat that one could not compile a history of science relying solely on the presence of the memorabilia

Budapest Scientific 2012 guidebook showcasing successful innovative education initiatives to help meet the mdgs and education for all targets from around the commonwealth in a concise and easy to use format provides policy makers with examples of solutions that will assist them in devising strategies to counter their own educational challenges

Guidebook to Education in the Commonwealth 2007 non full time facultyâ whether adjunct part time or contingentâ has become the lifeline of a vast majority of colleges and universities they teach many of the foundation and core courses taken by first and second year students teach professional courses in which their own life experiences are invaluable and step in at short notice to fill in for regular faculty engaged in research or away on sabbaticals a survey of over 4 000 institutions conducted by the us department of education reveals that such faculty are being hired at a much higher rate than their full time counterparts whether in response to increased enrollments reduced budgets or changing administrative strategies the increasing presence of such faculty on campus can conflict with today s demands for accountability and the pursuit of institutional mission this book provides academic administrators and faculty developers with proactive practical and results producing approaches that can help transform fragmented faculties into integrated and cohesive teaching and scholarly communities in an easy to follow format this book constitutes a resource of thoughtful and pragmatic strategies to ensure quality and satisfaction both on the part of the institution and the adjuncts topics are presented in a thematic sequence that allows decision makers to focus on their priority areas the author offers guidance for systematic planning and implementation the contents are focused on connecting non full time faculty to core institutional functions and structures connection 1 to the institution connection 2 to the department connection 3 to teaching connection 4 to students and connection 5 to scholarship originally announced as connecting adjunct faculty to the academic institution

The Great Lakes Guidebook 1954 in 1935 the fdr administration put 40 000 unemployed artists to work in four federal arts projects the main contribution of one unit the federal writers project was the american guide series a collectively composed set of guidebooks to every state most regions and many cities towns and villages across the united states the wpa arts projects were poised on the cusp of the modern bureaucratization of culture they occurred at a moment when the federal government was extending its reach into citizens daily lives the 400 guidebooks the teams produced have been widely celebrated as icons of american democracy and diversity clumped together they manifest a lofty role for the project and a heavy responsibility for its teams of writers the guides assumed the authority of conceptualizing the national identity in the wpa guides mapping america christine bold closely examines this publicized view of the guides and reveals its flaws her research in archival materials reveals the negotiations and conflicts between the central editors in washington and the local people in the states race region and gender are taken as important categories within which difference and conflict appear she looks at the guidebook for each of five distinctively different locations idaho new york city north carolina missouri and u s one and the oregon trail to assess the editorial plotting of such issues as gender race ethnicity and class as regionalists jostled with federal officialdom the faultlines of the project gaped open spotlighting the controversies between federal and state bureaucracies bold concludes that the image of america that the wpa fostered is closer to fabrication than to actuality christine bold is director of the centre for cultural studies and an associate professor of english at the university of guelph in guelph ontario

Caring for the World 1964 at first encounter orange county can resemble the incoherent sprawl that geographer james howard kunstler named the geography of nowhere a car dependent seemingly bland space designed most of all for efficient capitalist consumption but it is somewhere too and learning its stories helps it become more than its boosters slogans writers lisa alvarez and andrew tonkovich residents of orange county s remote modjeska canyon describe this whole county as a much constructed and contrived locale a pestered and paved landscape built and borne upon stories of human development of destruction as well as happily of enduring wild places in a similar vein essayist d j waldie chronicler of the bordering suburb of lakewood asserts that becoming californian means locating yourself in habitats of memory that connect ordinary local areas with broader themes moving beyond sentimentality nostalgia and so many sales pitches that omit far too much waldie echoes michel de certeau s call to awaken the stories that sleep in the streets that is the goal of this book inspired by laura pulido laura barraclough and wendy cheng s a people s guide to los angeles university of california press 2012 as well as the people s guides to boston and san francisco that have followed it we offer this guidebook for locals tourists students and everyone who wants to understand where they really are this book is organized with regional chapters sorted roughly north to south by community within each city sites are listed alphabetically after the group of entries for each city we recommend nearby restaurants as well as other sites of interest for visitors readers may explore this book geographically or use the thematic tours in the appendix to consider environmental politics cold war legacies the politics of housing lgbtq spaces or orange county s carceral state the appendix also contains suggestions for teachers using this book engaging students in cognitive mapping close reading popular culture analysis and creating additional entries of people s history while many local histories tend to focus on a few white settlers this book places attention on the people especially the subaltern ones who are hierarchically under others including workers people of color youth and lgbtq individuals no single book can represent an entire county so we have chosen to concentrate on the lesser known power struggles that have happened here and influenced the landscape that we all share we could not include everyone of course we are mindful that other groups are currently creating more people s history on this landscape that we hope our readers will continue to explore in orange county excavating the diverse past can be frowned upon or actively repressed by those invested in selling orange county in the style of its booster anglo settlers from 150 years ago this book tells the diverse political history beyond the bucolic imagery of orange crate labels we hope it will inspire readers to further explore orange county and reflect on even more sites that could be included in the ordinary extraordinary landscape here
