lectures the book reflects on what is entailed in changing the language of the law it reviews the implications of societal bilingualism for postcolonial justice systems and raises an important question for language planners to consider if the language of the law is changed what else about the law changes as a region southeast asia has undergone enormous economic and social changes in the last few decades women as a collective have seen their lives transformed as a result of rapid development and economic growth in exploring the progress made by southeast asian men and women this book seeks to answer the following questions a in what areas have women been able to achieve parity with men b in what areas do women encounter specific disadvantages based on their gender as compared with men and c how have womens concerns and problems been addressed by the governments in this region with the aim of encouraging gender equality as the title of this book suggests the chapters provide an analysis of the broad trends including changes and continuities in the experiences interests and concerns of southeast asian women the chapters examine the trends related to women in the following arenas the family economic participation politics health and religion in some arenas the trends reflect the disadvantages women face which in turn have led to gender gaps in other areas women s progress has been found to eclipse that of the men although this tends to be the exception the music of malaysia first published in malay in 1997 and followed by an english edition in 2004 is still the only history appreciation and analysis of malaysian music in its many and varied forms available in english the book categorizes the types of music genres found in malaysian society and provides an overview of the development of music in that country analyses of the music are illustrated with many examples transcribed from original field recordings genres discussed include theatrical and dance forms percussion ensembles vocal and instrumental music and classical music it is an excellent introduction to and exploration of the country s vibrant musical culture this new fully revised and updated edition includes time lines listening guides and downloadable resources of field recordings that are analysed and discussed in the text first published in 1990 the handbook of educational ideas and practices was written for practitioners and students in the field of education and its related services and was designed to appeal to educationists no matter what their nationality focusing mainly on compulsory schooling it provides summaries of the thinking research findings and innovatory practices current at the time however the book is also careful to present a complete picture of education and therefore includes a separate section for education beyond school which covers pre school level post secondary level and adult and continuing education there are also other chapters dealing with aspects of organization curriculum and teaching in various forms of tertiary education indeed each topic has been discussed by an acknowledged expert writing in sufficient detail in order to resist trivialization covering a wide range of areas including international politics colonial history critical pedagogy postcolonial literature and applied linguistics this book examines ways to understand the cultural and political implications of the global spread of english including a useful mixture of theory research and practice this will be of use to advanced students of education english and applied linguistics for courses on teaching second languages critical pedagogy comparative education and world englishes it will also be of interest to students of postcolonial literature and international relations this book provides an overview of language education in malaysia covering topics such as the evolution of the education system from pre independence days to the present time to the typology of schools and the public philosophy behind every policy made in the teaching of languages the book consists of chapters devoted to the teaching of languages that form separate strands but are at the same time connected to each other within the education system these chapters discuss implementing the national language policy in education institutions english in language education policies and planning in malaysia chinese and tamil language education in malaysia teaching of indigenous malaysian languages the role of translation in education in malaysia it also discusses the development of language which enables the national language malay to fulfil its role as the main medium of education up to the tertiary level this book will be of interest to researchers studying language planning teacher education and the sociology of education particularly within the malaysian context how do islamic courts work what sorts of cultural understandings inform judicial process and litigants strategies how do women s claims fare do these courts promote social tolerance and how do states use them to consolidate power build nations and shape a modern citizenry these are among the questions addressed in this book which not only enhances our understanding of diversity among and within the world s muslim communities but also provides ethnographic historical and transnational perspectives on contemporary islam in the shifting landscape of a strategically important region of the world focusing on malaysia which has sustained more rapid development than probably any other muslim nation michael peletz explores the culture political economy and history of islamic courts he demonstrates that they are centrally involved in the creation and policing of new malay muslim identities such as middle class urban dwellers that the state sees as the basis for a national polity that will be highly competitive he also shows how and why islamic courts are key sites in struggles involving ethnic and religious groups social classes political parties and others with a major stake in defining islam s role with respect to the maintenance of sovereignty and the achievement of modernity and civil society in an age of globalization peletz deepens our knowledge of islamic political development in a country very much concerned with forging an islamic modernity viewed by its leaders as a viable alternative to western style modernization language planning from practice to theory examines and reviews the field of language policy and planning in the first section of the book language policy and planning definitions current practices goals and ways of thinking are discussed as a foundation for understanding current practice in the discipline the central elements of language policy and planning practice are then described from two perspectives in the second section the methodology for collecting language planning data is outlined and the key cross societal issues of language in education planning literacy and economics in language planning are discussed in the third section case studies related to language and power bilingualism and status and specific purpose issues in language planning are covered the final two chapters draw together the critical issues and problems which have arisen from current practice and which must be considered in building a theory of the discipline a reference appendix to language planning in national situations is included the book provides the only up to date overview and review of the field of language policy and planning and challenges language planners to think more critically about their discipline since language will be planned there is a need to consider how it will be done one of the main problems faced by teachers and students who have a scholarly interest in southeast asia is the lack of general user friendly texts in the social sciences the absence of an introduction to the sociology of southeast asia is especially unfortunate this volume attempts to meet these needs this is then the first sole authored introductory sociology text on southeast asia that focuses on change and development in the region provides an overview of the important sociological and political economy writings and considers the key concepts and themes in the field since 1945 some multiauthored works do exist but these either are outdated or focus on specialized topics aimed primarily at undergraduates up to the final year it will also be a useful reference work for post graduates and researchers who lack such a general work this book provides a survey and analysis of the different ways in which women s work is valued throughout the world it challenges the narrow definition of work as paid work as that excludes so many of women s activities it looks at ways in which women s worth has been consistently undervalued in industrial as well as non industrial countries in socialist as well as free enterprise economies these practices distort the national product of countries heavily dependent on women s labour but above all they are among the most obvious marks of the exploitation of women technological changes are already altering established female male divisions of labour transnational enterprises often located in special economic zones are reducing differences between industrial and nonindustrial countries valuing women s work correctly whether unpaid in the home or underpaid outside it is part of the battle against discrimination and poverty men who do similar work also benefit it is the crucial step towards the achievement of male female equality the book will be particularly valuable for those concerned with the issues in trade unions women s groups international agencies and ngos and for course in economics and social studies this provocative book seeks to redress inaccuracies in western perceptions of gender relations in southeast asia by bringing to the fore the area s ethnic and cultural variance and showing how women and men explain the informal and psychological dimensions of relationships as vital in holding family neighbourhood and kinship ties together although there are differences between male and female perceptions of sex roles in society women perceive their situation as disadvantaged rather than less significant male female interpretations of power and status tend to converge usually towards the understanding that the contributions of men and women are equally important in the formation of family and society this book provides a survey and analysis of the different ways in which women s work is valued throughout the world it challenges the narrow definition of work as paid work as that excludes so many of women s activities it looks at ways in which women s worth has been consistently undervalued in industrial as well as non industrial countries in socialist as well as free enterprise economies these practices distort the national product of countries heavily dependent on women s labour but above all they are among the most obvious marks of the exploitation of women technological changes are already altering established female male divisions of labour transnational enterprises often located in special economic zones are reducing differences between industrial and nonindustrial countries valuing women s work correctly whether unpaid in the home or underpaid outside it is part of the battle against discrimination and poverty men who do similar work also benefit it is the crucial step towards the achievement of male female equality the book will be particularly valuable for those concerned with the issues in trade unions women s groups international agencies and ngos and for course in economics and social studies
