sponsored film company defa deutsche film aktiengesellschaft produced over forty feature length live action fairy tale films based on nineteenth century folk and literary tales while many of these films were popular successes and paved the way for the studio s other films to enter the global market defa s fairy tale corpus has not been studied in its entirety in the politics of magic defa fairy tale films qinna shen fills this gap by analyzing the films on thematic and formal levels and examining their embedded agendas in relation to the cultural politics of the german democratic republic in five chapters shen compares the films with earlier print versions of the same stories and analyzes revisions made in defa s film adaptations she also distinguishes the defa fairy tale films from national socialist west german and disney adaptations of the same tales her archival work reconstitutes the cultural historical context in which films were produced and received and incorporates the films into the larger narrative of defa for the first time the banned defa fairy tale comedy the robe 1961 1991 is discussed in depth the book s title the politics of magic is not intended to suggest that defa fairy tale films were merely mouthpieces of official ideology and propaganda on the contrary shen shows that the films run the gamut from politically dogmatic to implicitly subversive from kitschy to experimental she argues that the fairy tale cloak permitted them to convey ideology in a subtle indirect manner that allowed viewers to forget cold war politics for a while and to delve into a world of magic where politics took on an allegorical form the fact that some defa fairy tale films developed an international audience particularly the story of little mook and three hazelnuts for cinderella not only attests to these films universal appeal but also to the surprising marketability of this branch of gdr cinema and its impact beyond the gdr s own narrow temporal and geographic boundaries shen s study will be significant reading for teachers and students of folklore studies and for scholars of german eastern european cultural film media and gender studies
