actor and new york times bestselling author alan cumming and artist grant shaffer imagine what their dogs do when they're not around and it's no surprise that the dogs aspire to lead lives as action-packed and glamorous as their dad's. Honey and Leon are rescue mutts who love their dad's very much but their dad's often have to go away on glamorous and important business which worries the dogs. Honey and Leon are done staying home and fretting they're off on a dad-protecting adventure. Careful to remain incognito, the two pups shadow their dad's on a trip across the sea, keeping them out of danger at every turn. How did they survive without Honey and Leon's protection for this long? Alan Cumming and Grant Shaffer wrote this story as a tribute to their own dogs based on their frequent conversations about what Honey and Leon get up to while they're away.

Over the past four decades, Canadian artist Tony Calzetta has developed a bold style and a unique visual lexicon in fabulous peculiarities. Veteran author, art gallery director, curator, and columnist Tom Smart teases out Calzetta's many and varied artistic influences. Smart also examines how the artist has made efforts to engage audiences in the interpretation of his works, resulting in unique and complex visual narratives. As Smart explains, the culmination of this interest in visual narratives is Calzetta's collaborative livre d'artiste created with award-winning poet Leon Rooke and printmaker Dieter Grund. A zany, surprising masterpiece entitled How God Talks in His Sleep and other fabulous fictions.

How does coding change the way we think about architecture? This question opens up an important research perspective. In this book, Miro Roman and his AI, Alice, develop a playful scenario in which they propose coding as the new literacy of information. They convey knowledge in the form of a project model that links the fields of architecture and information through two interwoven narrative strands in an infinite flow of real books focusing on the intersection of information technology and architectural formulation the authors create an evolving intellectual reflection on digital architecture and computer science
