american health care is at a crossroads health spending reached 3.5 trillion in 2017 yet more than 27 million people remain uninsured and it's unclear if all that spending is buying higher quality care patients doctors insurers and the government acknowledge that the healthcare status quo is unsustainable america's last attempt at health reform obamacare didn't work nearly a decade after its passage in 2010 democrats are calling for a government takeover of the nation's healthcare system medicare for all the idea's supporters assert that health care is a right they promise generous universal high quality care to all americans with no referrals copays deductibles or coinsurance with a sales pitch like that it's no wonder that seven in ten people now support medicare for all doctors especially young ones are coming around to the idea of single payer too democrats led by the progressive wing of the party hope to capitalize on this enthusiasm in 2017 they introduced companion legislation in the house and senate that would establish medicare for all they have already promised to do the same when the next congress convenes in 2019 more than 70 house democrats have joined a new medicare for all caucus senator bernie sanders is effectively already on the presidential campaign trail making his case for single payer if democrats take the white house and senate in 2020 and hold onto the house a medicare for all bill could be among the first pieces of legislation presented to the new president for a signature in this book sally c pipes a canadian native will make the case against medicare for all she ll explain why health care is not a right and how progressives pressing for single payer are making a litany of promises they can t possibly keep evidence from government run systems in canada the united kingdom and other developed countries proves that single payer forces patients to withstand long waits for poor care at high cost first she ll unpack the medicare for all plans under consideration in congress she ll explain how radical they truly are medicare for all will not save 5 trillion as some of its proponents claim it will cost about 32 trillion over 10 years according to analyses from the urban institute and the mercatus center it will outlaw private health insurance it will raise taxes by trillions of dollars it will cut pay for doctors to the rates paid by medicare and thereby exacerbate our nation s shortage of physicians and it will ration care then sally will detail the horrors of single payer she ll start in canada whose single payer system most closely resembles the one progressives have in mind for the united states analyses of the government run systems in the united kingdom and a few other developed countries will follow with particular focus on the problems that these systems pose for patients and doctors to substantiate her indictment of single payer sally will marshal both quantitative and qualitative evidence she ll highlight how americans fare better than their peers in canada and the united kingdom on the health outcomes that are directly linked to the quality of a healthcare system including survival rates for patients with cancer and cardiovascular issues she ll also explain why the health outcomes where the united states performs poorly relative to other nations like infant mortality and life expectancy tell us little about our healthcare system sally will pepper her text with heart wrenching stories of the human costs of single payer of people who were injured were forced to remain in pain or even died because their government run healthcare system delayed or denied care too often evangelists for free markets limit their arguments to facts and statistics and fail to appeal to the public s emotions sally will feature the stories of individuals and families who have been victims of single payer systems these vignettes will help drive home the truth about single payer and why it must not come to the united states she ll conclude with her vision for delivering the affordable accessible quality care the american people are looking for health planning is a critical component when responding to the health needs of low and middle income countries characterised by particularly stringent resource constraints the major communicable diseases such as aids tb and malaria often appear in parallel with growing non communicable diseases including heart disease and diabetes and yet resources are often less than the levels recommended by the world health organisation for basic health care the new edition of this well respected text explains the importance of health planning in both developing regions such as africa and those in transition such as central and eastern europe it stresses the importance of understanding the national and international context in which planning occurs and provides an up to date analysis of the major current policy issues including health reforms separate chapters are dedicated to the distinct issues of finance for health care and humanresource planning the various techniques used at each stage of the planning process are explained starting with the situational analysis and then looking in turn at priority setting option appraisal programming implementation monitoring and evaluation the book ends by examining the challengesfacing planners in the 21st century particularly in the light of growing globalisation a major theme of the book is the need to recognise and reconcile the inevitable tension that lies between value judgements and rational decision making as such in addition to introducing techniques such as costing and economic appraisal it also outlines techniques such as stakeholder analysis for understanding the relative attitudes and power of different groups in planning decisions each chapter includes a comprehensive bibliography including key websites a summary and exercises to help the reader practise techniques and better understand the content the book argues that all health professionals and community groups should be involved in the planning process for it to be effective and will therefore appeal to anyone involved in planning
