The Most Important Thing Illuminated 2013-01-15

Howard Marks's The Most Important Thing distilled the investing insight of his celebrated client memos into a single volume and for the first time made his time-tested philosophy available to general readers. In this edition, Marks's wisdom is joined by the comments, insights, and counterpoints of four renowned investors and investment educators: Christopher C. Davis (Davis Funds), Joel Greenblatt (Gotham Capital), Paul Johnson (Nicusa Capital), and Seth A. Klarman (Baupost Group). These experts lend insight into such concepts as second-level thinking, the price-value relationship, patient opportunism, and defensive investing. Marks also adds his own annotations, expanding on his book's original themes and issues. A new chapter addresses the importance of reasonable expectations, and a foreword by Bruce C. Greenwald, called a guru to Wall Street's gurus by the New York Times, speaks on value investing, productivity, and the economics of information. Howard Marks, the chairman and cofounder of Oaktree Capital Management, is renowned for his insightful assessments of market opportunity and risk. After four decades spent ascending to the top of the investment management profession, he is today sought out by the world's leading value investors, and his client memos brim with insightful commentary and a time-tested fundamental philosophy. Now, for the first time, all readers can benefit from Marks's wisdom concentrated into a single volume that speaks to both the amateur and seasoned investor. Informed by a lifetime of experience and study, The Most Important Thing explains the keys to successful investment and the pitfalls that can destroy capital or ruin a career. Utilizing passages from his memos, Robert Oppenheimer, a leading physicist in the Manhattan Project, recognized that scientific inquiry and discovery could no longer be separated from their effect on political decision making, social responsibility, and human endeavor. In general, he openly addressed issues of common concern, and as a scientist, he accepted the responsibility brought about by nuclear physics and the atom bomb. In this collection of essays and speeches, Oppenheimer discusses the shift in scientific awareness and its impact on education, the question of openness in a society forced to keep secrets, the conflict between individual concerns and public and political necessity, the future of science and its effects on future politics. In short, the common and uncommon sense we find in our modern-day reality.

Howard Zinn has become one of the most important and influential American historians. It is perhaps nowhere more evident than in this new book. Few social critics have been as inspiring as the ever hopeful Zinn, and unlike many historians, Zinn turns historical details toward deeper observations on the universal truths and struggles of humankind. His remarkable wisdom and insight can be found in his earliest writings through his latest essays, speeches, and plays. Uncommon Sense brings together his most poignant and profound quotations from decades of writing and speaking. The book reveals the philosophical side of Howard Zinn and a consistency of vision over 50 years on topics ranging from government to race, history, law, civil disobedience, and activism, offering quotations of universal and timeless quality. The book shows why history will regard this historian as a political and moral philosopher in the company of paine jefferson frederick douglass and martin luther king jr
