tearing up the silk road is an irreverent travelogue that details a journey along the ancient trade routes from china to istanbul through central asia iran and the caucasus as tom coote struggles through the often arbitrary borders and bureaucracies of china kazakhstan uzbekistan turkmenistan iran armenia georgia and turkey it becomes increasingly apparent that the next generations to rise to power will see themselves in a very different light to their predecessors in an increasingly interconnected world archaic conceptions of race ethnicity and nationalism will come to be seen as increasingly irrelevant instead new forms of identity are emerging founded more upon shared cultural preferences and aspirations than on the remnants of tribal allegiance while rushing through from east to west tom coote meets befriends and argues with an epic range of characters from soldiers and monks to pilgrims travellers and modern day silk road traders all are striving for something more and most dream of being somewhere else by bus train and battered car through deserts open plains and mountain ranges we find ourselves again and again at the front line of a desperate war for hearts and minds through rapidly expanding megacities to ancient ruins and far more recently created wastelands it is the west that is winning the souls while the east grows ever stronger the real clash of civilisations however seems set to be not between the east and the west but between the few who have so much and the masses now uniting to demand so much more
