vexing relations back cover the author examines the media's presentation of graphic images of war, natural disasters, accidents, murder, and execution, death and grief, and the public's response to these images, a charismatic and controversial figure, Lacan is one of the most important thinkers of the twentieth century, and his work has revolutionized a range of fields. The volume aims to introduce Lacan's vast opus to the field of international politics in a coherent and approachable manner. The volume is split into three distinct sections: psychoanalysis and politics. This section will frame the discussion by providing general background of Lacan's engagement with politics and the political. Lacan and the political. Each chapter will focus on different key ideas and concepts in Lacan's thought, including ethics, justice, discourse, object, a symptom, jouissance, political encounters. Seeks to represent different ways of engaging with Lacanian thought and ways of adopting it to explain and comment on global political phenomena, bringing together internationally recognised scholars in the field. This volume will be an invaluable resource to students and scholars in areas including critical theory, international relations, political theory, and political philosophy. The author, a leading figure in contemporary psychoanalytic theory, deplores the absence of sexuality and the erotic from current psychoanalytic theory and practice. Instead, he demonstrates how human sexuality forms an erotic chain. The work of analysis, he argues, consists in following the dynamic movements of the erotic process by ascertaining its links with other aspects of the psyche. The author revisits many previously neglected or ignored areas of psychoanalytic debate, including the complicated relationship between pleasure and reproduction, and the links between psychoanalysis, anthropology, and biology. He also embarks on extensive and radical readings of Klein, Winnicott, Lacan, and other major psychoanalytic thinkers.

what does theology have to say about the place of eroticism in the salvific transformation of men and women even of the cosmos itself how in turn does eros infuse theological practice and transfigure doctrinal tropes avoiding the well worn path of sexual moralizing while also departing decisively from anders nygren s influential insistence that christian agape must have nothing to do with worldly eros this book explores what is still largely uncharted territory in the realm of theological erotics the ascetic the mystical the seductive the ecstatic these are the places where the divine and the erotic may be seen to converge and love and desire to commingle inviting and performing a mutual seduction of disciplines the volume brings philosophers historians biblical scholars and theologians into a spirited conversation that traverses the limits of conventional orthodoxies whether doctrinal or disciplinary it seeks new openings for the emergence of desire love and pleasure while challenging common understandings of these terms it engages risk at the point where the hope for salvation paradoxically endangers the safety of subjects in particular of theological subjects by opening them to those transgressions of eros in which boundaries once exceeded become places of emerging possibility the eighteen chapters arranged in thematic clusters move fluidly among and between premodern and postmodern textual traditions from plato to emerson augustine to kristeva mechthild to mattoso the shulammitte to molly bloom the zohar to the da vinci code in so doing they link the sublime reaches of theory with the gritty realities of politics the boundless transcendence of god with the poignant transience of materiality sensible ecstasy investigates the attraction to excessive forms of mysticism among twentieth century french intellectuals and demonstrates the work that the figure of the mystic does for these thinkers with special attention to georges bataille simone de beauvoir jacques lacan and luce irigaray amy hollywood asks why resolutely secular even anti christian intellectuals are drawn to affective bodily and widely denigrated forms of mysticism what is particular to these thinkers hollywood reveals is their attention to forms of mysticism associated with women they regard mystics such as angela of foligno hadewijch and teresa of avila not as emotionally excessive or escapist but as unique in their ability to think outside of the restrictive oppositions that continue to afflict our understanding of subjectivity the body and sexual difference mystics such as these like their twentieth century descendants bridge the gaps between action and contemplation emotion and reason and body and soul offering new ways of thinking about language and the limits of representation in today s turbulent times few subjects deserve a closer scrutiny than the interactions between violence and constructed environment modernity s contradictory histories laid bare the fact that it is impossible to consider architecture simply a benign passive victim of humanity s violent vices built space is as capable of incarnating violent acts as enacting them disciplining and silencing the subject in the process in this compelling volume some of the most incisive thinkers of contemporary architectural theory make manifest the intricacies of interrelations between architecture and violent events employing a wide variety of perspectives and methodical approaches the authors examine some of the most dramatic and unexpected instances of these vexing relations back cover a charismatic and controversial figure, Lacan is one of the most important thinkers of the twentieth century, and his work has revolutionized a range of fields. The volume aims to introduce Lacan's vast opus to the field of international politics in a coherent and approachable manner. The volume is split into three distinct sections: psychoanalysis and politics; this section will frame the discussion by providing general background of Lacan's engagement with politics and the political; Lacan and the political; each chapter will focus on different key ideas and concepts in Lacan's thought, including ethics, justice, discourse, object, a symptom, jouissance, political encounters. The book seeks to represent different ways of engaging with Lacanian thought and ways of adopting it to explain and comment on global political phenomena. Bringing together internationally recognised scholars in the field, this volume will be an invaluable resource to students and scholars in areas including critical theory, international relations, political theory, and political philosophy.

Toward a Theology of Eros

the author, a leading figure in contemporary psychoanalytic theory, deplores the absence of sexuality and the erotic from current psychoanalytic theory and practice. Instead, he demonstrates how human sexuality forms an erotic chain. The work of analysis, he argues, consists in following the dynamic movements of the erotic process by ascertaining its links with other aspects of the psyche. The author revisits many previously neglected or ignored areas of psychoanalytic debate, including the complicated relationship between pleasure and reproduction, and the links between psychoanalysis, anthropology, and biology. He also embarks on extensive and radical re readings of klein winnicott lacan and other major psychoanalytic thinkers
