4 the nordic adr systems in translation and cross cultural communication studies in the asia pacific leong ko and ping chen provide a comprehensive and in depth account of various issues encountered in translation and interpreting activities and cross cultural communication in the asia pacific drawing on postcolonial theory this text offers a critique of international management it argues that such disciplines are western discourses and exhibit historical and current resonances with the vicissitudes of the so called colonial project the book explores alternative approaches to the question of the other in late global capitalism this text presents intriguing explanations of extraordinary musical creations from diverse cultures across the world it recounts the contexts in which the music is created and performed and then hones in on elucidating how the music works as sound in process examines the relationship between alcohol studies and the cross cultural perspective of anthropology this book decodes commercial news discourses from the perspective of cognitive semantics it attaches considerable importance to the bodily experientialism and linguistic embodiment advocated in discourse analysis and cognitive linguistics and explores the complex yet thought provoking correlation between overt language and covert cognition by focusing on contrastive analyses of metaphors image schemas and stance markers in texts on the basis of the analyses the author discusses the linguistic applications lexical devices and personal experiences along with their embodied mechanisms revealing the linguistic strategies embodied cognitive linguistic actions and constructive thoughts used in media discourses on product promotion human resources deployment and commodity problem resolution in turn this sheds light on how linguistic selections and cognitive mechanisms are used in composing media news and on how public cognition on certain social and business issues might be framed the combination of cognitive semantics and commercial discourse analysis offers comprehensive and rewarding insights into the cross cultural research of both cognitive actions and linguistic behavior reflected in news reports and highlights the correlation between the use of wording and cognitive construction in discourses which broadens the scope of discourse analysis cognitive linguistics applied linguistics and sociolinguistics further the use of analytical measures and the effective integration of discourse analysis and cognitive semantics lend the book additional analytical authenticity providing an empirical foundation for cross cultural communication studies available online pub norden org temanord2021 547 the finnish presidency project on data exchange achieving the world s smoothest cross border mobility and daily life through digitalisation 2021 2023 has produced this baseline study report the report outlines the current situation of cross border data exchange between authorities in the nordic and baltic countries while focusing on the three work packages of the presidency project studying in another nordic baltic country using health services in another nordic baltic country and the versatile use of the nordic baltic legislative databases additionally the barriers to cross border data exchange was assessed based on the four interoperability layers of the european interoperability framework legal organisational semantic and technical interoperability the report will form the basis of the continued work of the presidency project a collection of essays pioneering new concepts in cross cultural psychology based on the work of philip e vernon a pioneer of rigorous theory building and careful methodology it includes empirical studies on aboriginals in canada and infants in japan india jamaica and britain this book offers valuable new insights into the design of culturally aware systems in its first part it is devoted to presenting selected culturally aware intelligent systems devised in the field of artificial intelligence and its second part consists of two sub parts that offer a source of inspiration for building modelizations of culture and of its influence on the human mind and behavior to be used in new culturally aware intelligent systems those sub parts present the results of experiments conducted in two fields that study culture and its influence on the human mind s functions cultural neuroscience and cross cultural psychology in this era of globalization people from different countries and cultures have the opportunity to interact directly or indirectly in a wide variety of contexts despite differences in their ways of thinking and reasoning their behaviors their values lifestyles customs and habits languages religions in a word their cultures they must be able to collaborate on projects to understand each other s views to communicate in such a way that they don t offend each other to anticipate the effects of their actions on others and so on as such it is of primary importance to understand how culture affects people s mental activities such as perception interpretation reasoning emotion and behavior in order to anticipate possible misunderstandings due to differences in handling the same situation and to try and resolve them artificial intelligence and more specifically the field of intelligent systems design aims at building systems that mimic the behavior of human beings in order to complete tasks more efficiently than humans could by themselves consequently in the last decade experts and scholars in the field of intelligent systems have been increasingly tackling the notion of cultural awareness a culturally aware intelligent system can be defined as a system where culture related or more generally socio cultural information is modeled and used to design the human machine interface or to provide support with the task carried out by the system be it reasoning simulation or any other task involving cultural knowledge this last work of edith stein offers st john in the unity of his being as it is expressed in his life and work from a point of view that enables us to envisage that unity hers is a unique approach to st john seeking the essence of his person in relation to the divine pursuit of his soul this is also a spiritual confession of the author's last days cross cultural studies is the culminating effort of a distinguished team of international scholars who have worked since the mid 1980s to create the most complete analysis of caribbean literature ever undertaken conceived as a major contribution to postcolonial studies cultural studies cultural anthropology and regional studies of the caribbean and the americas cross cultural studies illuminates the interrelations between and among europe the caribbean islands africa and the american continents from the late fifteenth century to the present scholars from five continents bring to bear on the most salient issues of caribbean literature theoretical and critical positions that are currently in the forefront of discussion in literature the arts and public policy among the major issues treated at length in cross cultural studies are the history and construction of racial inequality in caribbean colonization the origins and formation of literatures in various creoles the gendered literary representation of the caribbean region the political and ideological appropriation of caribbean history in creating the idea of national culture in north and south america europe and africa the role of the caribbean in contemporary theories of modernism and the postmodern the decentering of such canonical authors as shakespeare the vexed but inevitable connectedness of caribbean literature with both its former colonial metropoles and its geographical neighbors contributions to cross cultural studies give a concrete cultural and historical analysis of such contemporary critical terms as hybridity transculturation and the carnivalesque which have so often been taken out of context and employed in narrowly ideological contexts two important theories of the simultaneous unity and diversity of caribbean literature and culture propounded by antonio benítez rojo and douard glissant receive extended treatment that places them strategically in the debate over multiculturalism in postcolonial societies and in the context of chaos theory a contribution by benitez rojo permits the reader to test the theory through his critical practice divided into nine thematic and methodological sections followed by a complete index to the names and dates of authors and significant historical figures discussed
