they provide an unparalleled opportunity for christians to learn grow and live out their faith consciously every day small churches become a family children of god and brothers and sisters of jesus together there s no place to hide in a small church the normal human dramas of good and evil sin and repentance forgiveness and reconciliation all happen in our relationships in the family a small church is a place where people can serve an apprenticeship in faith learning from those before them and passing on their experience to those around them in a small church the pastor provides context by preaching and teaching serves as a role model in encouraging the ministry of others and by loving the people helps them see themselves through god s eyes the rest is up to the people themselves and reformation quietly taking place in our western society millions of people have been moving away from the institutional church and the trend is accelerating contrary to the expectations that those who move away and do not attend church are backsliders many are not in fact a vast number moved out of the church because they are serious about having a vibrant and living faith some have moved away because they were used and abused by the very institutions and leaders they had trusted among the believers not attending church there are many who are not only committed but well trained and able to lead to use a biblical picture many are outside the fold wandering around like sheep without a shepherd not unlike the situation jesus encountered in israel when he walked the dusty roads and ministered bringing healing and restoration we read how jesus saw the crowds and had compassion for them his ministry flowed from his compassion and love while on earth as a man he called and trained disciples and sent them forth to meet the needs of many in his name they in turn ministered and in time the ekklesia those who responded to his call and were baptized and filled with the spirit moved from jerusalem into the world in faith sharing his message and ministering in his name as he promised he showed up wherever two or three were gathered in his name and nothing could stop this movement lives were touched and transformed as ordinary people walked in radical authenticity in faith to be extraordinary royal priests nothing not even persecution could stop them however the foundations of this faith were upended when the roman emperor constantine became a believer he reshaped the church to be aligned to the roman state and the priesthood of the believer was abolished in favor of an earthly caste of clergy ruling over the laity thus dividing the body of christ it led to the dark ages and when the light again broke through during the reformation this division remained the current quiet reformation is a return to the simplicity of the early church and many who are leaving institutional christianity are responding to the call of the spirit to walk in the way a remnant is being gathered and many are finding that the lord is true to his word and showing up where two or three are gathered in his name ordinary homes are again filled with the spirit as we meet and minister to one another lives are transformed as ordinary people step out in faith to bring

hope and healing to the lost and hurting this little booklet provides a guide to anyone wishing to make his or her home a place where people meet the living lord may you find the courage to step out and be the one to make him known in your community a place where criminals and political offenders could find refuge was called a sanctuary it is generally agreed that in this country the privilege of sanctuary was instituted on the recognition of christianity from an early time down to the days of henry viii fugitives were safe for certain periods in all the churches and churchyards of the land the origin of the usage is extremely remote most probably it existed among the israelites before mooses gave directions for the establishment of cities of refuge when the children of israel settled in the promised land the greeks romans arabs and american indians had their places of refuge an account of the intellectual and cultural history of church architecture in stuart england based upon the discourse analysis of forty consecration sermons helicopters patrolled low over the city filming blocks of burning cars and buildings mobs breaking into storefronts and the vicious beating of truck driver reginald denny for a week in april 1992 los angeles transformed into a cityscape of rage purportedly due to the exoneration of four policemen who had beaten rodney king it should be no surprise that such intense anger erupted from something deeper than a single incident in the contested murder of latasha harlins brenda stevenson tells the dramatic story of an earlier trial a turning point on the road to the 1992 riot on march 16 1991 fifteen year old latasha harlins an african american who lived locally entered the empire liquor market at 9172 south figueroa street in south central los register with two dollar bills in her hand the price of the juice moments later she was face down on the floor with a bullet hole in the back of her head shot dead by du joyce karlin a jewish superior court judge appointed by republican governor pete wilson presided over the resulting manslaughter trial a jury convicted du but karlin sentenced her only to probation community service and a 500 fine the author meticulously reconstructs these events and their aftermath showing how they set the stage for the explosion in 1992 an accomplished historian at ucla stevenson explores the lives of each of these three women harlins du and karlin and their very different worlds in rich detail through the three women she not only reveals the human reality and social repercussions of this triangular collision she also provides a deep history of immigration ethnicity and gender in modern america massively researched deftly written the contested murder of latasha harlins will reshape our
