in biology the nervous system is the highly complex part of an animal that coordinates its actions and sensory information by transmitting signals to and from different parts of its body the nervous system detects environmental changes that impact the body then works in tandem with the endocrine system to respond to such events

1 the nervous system is a network of neurons whose main feature is to generate modulate and transmit information between all the different parts of the human body this property enables many important functions of the nervous system such as regulation of vital body functions heartbeat breathing digestion sensation and body

2024 4 16 nervous system organized group of cells specialized for the conduction of electrochemical stimuli from sensory receptors through a network to the site at which a response occurs follow the electrical and chemical changes undergone to transmit an impulse through the human nervous system
