Holt Science and Technology 2004-01-01 in 1946 at the age of 41 Janice Holt Giles wrote her first novel although it took her only three months to complete the first draft working at night so as not to conflict with her secretarial job it was another four years before The Enduring Hills was published three years later when her sixth novel appeared Janice Holt Giles's works had accumulated sales of nearly two million copies between 1950 and 1975 she wrote twenty-four books most of which were bestsellers regularly reviewed in the New York Times and selected for inclusion in popular book clubs her picture held pride of place in her literary agent's New York office alongside those of Willa Cather H.G. Wells and Edith Wharton yet until now there has been no biography of this immensely popular American writer humbly professing to be just a good storyteller Giles was a keen observer of life with great sensitivity an ear for language and a superb imagination her artistic achievements become even more remarkable when placed in the context of her often difficult personal struggles Dianne Watkins Stuart for years the acknowledged expert on Giles's work has traced the path of her unique life Stuart walked around the small house where Giles's brother was born and the kinta years 1973 had its origin wandered through the yard where the plum thicket 1954 grew and made countless trips to Adair County Kentucky to trace the trails of the Piney Ridge trilogy The Enduring Hills Miss Willie Tara's Healing and seek out the day-to-day life of her later years Stuart's long anticipated biography provides both a narrative of Giles's life and an in-depth description of the art and commerce of American publishing in the middle years of the century

American Hereford Record and Hereford Herd Book 1889 We Want Land to Live explores the current boundaries of radical approaches to food sovereignty first coined by la Via Campesina a global movement whose name means the peasant's way food sovereignty is a concept that expresses the universal right to food Amy Trauger uses research combining ethnography participant observation field notes and interviews to help us understand the material and definitional struggles surrounding the decommodification of food and the transformation of the global food system's political economic foundations Trauger's work is the first of its kind to analytically and coherently link a dialogue on food sovereignty with case studies illustrating the spatial and territorial strategies by which the movement fosters its life in the margins of the corporate food regime she discusses community gardeners in portugal small scale independent farmers in maine native american wild rice gatherers in minnesota seed library supporters in pennsylvania and permaculturists in georgia the problem in the food system as the activists profiled here see it is not markets or the role of governance but that the right to food is conditioned by what the state and corporations deem to be safe legal and profitable and not by what eaters think is right in terms of their health the environment or their communities useful for classes on food studies and active food movements alike we want land to live makes food sovereignty issues real as it illustrates a range of methodological alternatives that are consistent with its discourse direct action rather than charity market creation or policy changes civil disobedience rather than compliance with discriminatory laws and mutual aid rather than reliance on top down aid
