crisis in u s public schools the federal government states districts have mandated policies that favor standardized approaches to teaching and assessment as a consequence teachers have been relying on teacher centered instructional approaches that do not take into consideration the needs experiences and interests of their students this is particularly pronounced with english learners els the widespread implementation of these policies is particularly striking in california where more than 25 of all public school students are els this volume reports on three studies that explore how teachers of els in three school districts negotiated these policies drawing on sociocultural and poststructural perspectives on agency and power the authors examine how contexts in which teachers of els lived and worked influenced the messages they constructed about these policies and mediated their decisions about policy implementation the volume provides important insights into processes affecting the learning and teaching of els this book offers clear guidance for facilitating curriculum improvement at the building level it includes real life scenarios that principals encounter accompanied by strategies to help schools sustain focus on student learning and continuous organizational development it is aimed at current and prospective administrators looking to update or refresh their understandings of curriculum leadership fundamentals its actionable ideas and useful examples can be applied across multiple school subjects and grade levels its practical overviews center on seven questions essential to planning coordinating overseeing and supporting collective improvement efforts which big ideas set the stage for curriculum leadership how can leaders help focus the curriculum when is curriculum mapping useful what are other curriculum support strategies where do more integrated models come in what about alternatives to standardized curricula and why do
