Parliamentary Papers 1896 seminar paper from the year 2018 in the subject economics innovation economics grade 1 0 lmu munich language english abstract this paper is a review of manso s paper motivating innovation and is structured as follows after summing up the theoretical and empirical results the ambiguous effects of job security will be critically discussed afterward it will be commented on some assumptions made in this paper while suggesting further novel research finally the main findings of manso will be stated in the age of disruptive technologies and business models the most crucial factor innovation is moving more and more into the focus of attention of society as leading innovative countries set the baron efficient solutions higher the determinants stay somewhat nebulous while zahra and covin 1994 suggest that innovation is widely considered as the lifeblood of corporate survival and growth bessant et al 2005 emphasize a more general definition innovation represents the core renewal process in any organization the latter statement suggests that innovation is not solely important for business organizations but rather for any kind of complex institutions while the usa emphasized the significance of innovation by launching the department of innovation already in 2008 germany has increased the public funding of research and development by 0.5 percentage points to 3.5 percent in the new coalition agreement in 2018 the department of trade of the uk exemplifies the relevance of accumulated innovation within a country many scientists have researched on the subject innovation so do aghion and tirole 1994 argue that the outcomes of innovation are unclear ergo it is difficult to find a cohesive contract which motivates innovation whereas the latter paper is studying the measurability of innovation manso s article looks closely at the process of innovation and focuses on the central trade off between exploration and exploitation moreover weitzman 1979 uses a simple bandit problem to describe the innovation process the substantial difference to motivating innovation is that manso does not only study individual decision problems but also complements the agent by the principal to embed the bandit problem into a principal agent framework the principal agent setting allows him to inquire the tension between exploration and exploitation under a more realistic contract in which the agent usually exhibits private costs when receiving tasks from the principal

Sessional Papers 1891 the death of general francisco franco in november of 1975 ended thirty six years of fascist style dictatorship in spain the subsequent transition to liberal parliamentary government was remarkably smooth particularly when compared to the recent difficulties experienced by other states such as the former soviet republics and eastern europe ortiz traces spain s success back to the development of a liberal tradition and a public sphere in the last decades of the 19th century during the restoration period he uses this era as a test case to demonstrate that liberal practices can develop even within a political situation where state institutions and the social infrastructure do not necessarily support them paper liberals dispels the notion that western europe ends at the pyrenees and argues instead that while on the periphery spain should not be excluded from the mainstream of european history clarifying a period in contemporary spanish history that has been largely misunderstood this study underscores the importance of the spanish example as a comparative model to the countries customarily thought of as the european center britain france and germany ortiz examines the formation and expansion of liberal political culture during the regency of maria christina from 1885 to 1902 and he details the pivotal role of the spanish press which dominated the public sphere of regency spain as the vehicle for this remarkable transformation
