Grant's Campaign for the Capture of Richmond: 1864~1865 1875 thomas brown 1778 1820 professor of moral philosophy in edinburgh was among the most prominent and widely read british philosophers of the first half of the nineteenth century an influential interpreter of both Hume and Reid Brown provided a bridge between the Scottish School of Common Sense and the later positivism of John Stuart Mill and others. The selections in this volume illustrate Brown's original ideas about mental science, cause and effect, emotions, and ethics. They are preceded by an introduction situating Brown's career and writings in their intellectual and historical context.

Man mortal: being a reply to Mr. F. W. Grant's "Life and Immortality," etc 1884 focussing on three first and early second century documents: the Shepherd of Hermas, 1 Clement, and the Ignatian Epistles. This work contributes to a growing body of literature concerned with the social setting of early Christianity. Maier argues that the development of structures of leadership in the early Christian Church is best accounted for by reference to the hospitality, patronage, and leadership of wealthy hosts who invited local Christian groups to meet in their homes. Sociological models and types are employed to analyze the tensions that arose from excesses of patronage and leadership by the well-to-do, recognizing the socio-economic setting of these conflicts corrects the interpretation of early Christian conflicts over the ministry as purely theological and doctrinal.
