Archeologies of Invective 2007

focusing on specimens of discourse where criticism assumes a flagrantly bucolic persona archeologies of invective investigates hitherto little acknowledged contexts of irony aggressivity and vilification after considering briefly lucilius and horace the author evaluates such diverse figures as poggio bracciolini quevedo dunbar poe and mencken before proceeding to sustained discussion of goethe s italian journey werther and the invektiven in terms of prime time satiric virtuosity byron s don juan recycles pastoral animus acting as a rogue like mirror text of the schiller goethe xenien of the late 1790s sidney s double sestina and villon s ballad of the women of paris are seen inaugurating the modern age while at the dawn of the avant garde verlaine s invectives sample goethean and villonesque attitude at a new level of recherché vulgarity low and highbrow outlaw and philistine resurface in wyndham lewis s arcadian perspective on the artist intellectual poets robert frost and theodore enslin are seen reinvigorating the edgily agrest scene of invective in america archeologies of invective situates itself also with respect to a psychohistorical terrain altered states of consciousness reflecting faustian transition the dislocation of the peasant class the empowerment of women as a heterological state within a state the advent of modern weaponry and the rise of alcohol whose genealogy becomes nothing short of a gin eology stable notions of character give way to impersonal pantomimic terms of art such as caliber the hero is displaced by the wanderer thief madman and clown not limiting itself to the literary canon archeologies includes analyses of gangster films and sports legends in the context of arcadian motivation finally eisenhauer places philip roth s american pastoral within the arc of 19th century pastoral fiction locating a prosaic nowadays in which criticism is still inscribed as evidenced by fish s explication of pastoral in the context of professional correctness under attack makes a new contribution to the field of international relations in general and the study of international law and armed conflict in particular in two core ways first it links information from varying disciplines most notably international relations and international law to form a comprehensive picture of state practice and the challenges it poses to the legal rules for the use of force secondly it organises the information in such a way to identify two core groups of contemporary justifications used by states humanitarian reasons and self defence both with their sub categories at the core of this book is the question of how state practice since 1990 has challenged the long established legal regime on the international use of force are we merely witnessing a temporary and insignificant challenge to international law or are the rules genuinely under attack my father s family name being pirrip and my christian name philip my infant tongue could make of both names nothing longer or more explicit than pip so i called myself pip and came to be called pip i give pirrip as my father s family name on the authority of his tombstone and my sister mrs joe gargery who married the blacksmith as i never saw my father or my mother and never saw any likeness of either of them for their days were long before the days of photographs my first fancies regarding what they were like were unreasonably derived from their tombstones the shape of the letters on my father s gave me an odd idea that he was a square stout dark man with curly black hair from the character and turn of the inscription also georgiana wife of the above i drew a childish conclusion that my mother was freckled and sickly to five little stone lozenges each about a foot and a half long which were arranged in a neat row beside their grave and were sacred to the memory of five little brothers of mine who gave up trying to get a living exceedingly early in that universal struggle i am indebted for a belief i religiously entertained that they had all been born on their backs with their hands in their trousers pockets and had never taken them out in this state of existence
