keeping up with constant changes and innovations puts a lot of pressure on information providers and users to continuously upgrade their knowledge and skill this change means being flexible enough to recognize that the knowledge you receive today must be constantly updated this book will provide readers with the latest research findings and managerial experiences on a variety of technological innovations of it

Mobility Data 2013-10-14

mobility of people and goods is essential in the global economy the ability to track the routes and patterns associated with this mobility offers unprecedented opportunities for developing new smarter applications in different domains written by a renowned group of worldwide experts this book surveys the myriad facets of monitoring people in motion from spatio temporal data modeling to data aggregation and warehousing to data analysis even though there is no generally accepted definition of nanotechnologies to be defined as distinct discipline there is an emerging consensus that their advent and development is a growing in importance factor of the contemporary and future technological civilization one of these most fundamental issues we are confronted with is the compatibility with life itself from single cell organisms to humans carbon is a key building block of all molecular structures of life in contrast the man created electronic industry to build on other elements of which silicon is the most common both carbon and silicon create molecular chains although different in their internal structure all life is built from carbon based chains as long as the man built technological products do not directly interfere with the physiology of life the associated risks from them are relatively easy to identify they are primarily in the environmental pollution and the possibility of upsetting the natural balance of biocoenosis on a planetary scale the basic life functions are still not directly subverted we can use tv computers drive cars and use other technological utilities without fear of direct interference with our cellular functions this is in particular because all these technological utilities are many orders of magnitude larger than typical scales of biological activity most of biological activity from fermentative catalysis to dna replication takes place on nanoscale the situation is radically different when the technological goals are building nanoscale size products all biological processes take place on nanoscale brucellosis also known as undulant fever mediterranean fever or malta fever is an important human disease in many parts of the world it is a zoonosis and the infection is almost invariably transmitted to people by direct or indirect contact with infected animals or their products these guidelines are designed as a concise yet comprehensive statement on brucellosis for public health veterinary and laboratory personnel without access to specialized services they are also to be a source of accessible and updated information for such others as nurses midwives and medical assistants who may have to be involved with brucellosis in humans emphasis is placed on fundamental measures of environmental and occupational hygiene in the community and in the household as well as on the sequence of actions required to detect and treat patients this compilation probably looks like one of the craziest things a human being could spend his or her time on yet nobody would wonder at someone taking a short walk every day after twenty five years that person would have covered a surprisingly long distance this is exactly the story behind this list which appeared first as a few pages within the directory starguides or whatever name it had at that time and as a distinct sister publication since 1990 the idea behind this dictionary is to offer astronomers and related space scientists practical assistance in decoding the numerous abbreviations acronyms contractions and symbols which they might encounter in all aspects of the vast range of their professional activities including traveling perhaps it is a bit paradoxical but if scientists quickly grasp the meaning of an acronym solely in their own specific discipline they will probably encounter more difficulties when dealing with adjacent fields it is for this purpose that this dictionary might be most often used scientists might also refer to this compilation in order to avoid identifying a project by an acronym which already has too many meanings or confused definitions this volume marks a departure from earlier descriptive archaeological summaries of the holy land taking an anthropological and socio economic perspective many of the leading archaeologists who work in israel and jordan today present timely and concise summaries of the archaeology of this region chronologically organized each chapter outlines the major cultural transitions which occurred in a given archaeological period to explain the processes which were responsible for culture change a review is made of the most recent research concerning settlement patterns innovations and technology religion and ideology and social organization the material culture of every period of human history in the holy land is explored from the earliest prehistoric hominids through the biblical and historical periods and up to modern 20th century times each chapter is accompanied by settlement pattern maps and a plate highlighting the major artifacts which archaeologists use to identify the material culture of the period in addition windows are presented which focus on major social issues and controversies such as the agricultural revolution the israelite conquest of canaan and ancient metal working and social change this volume should provide students and the general reader with a useful reference volume concerning the archaeology of societies which lived and live in the holy land this is the first fully comprehensive survey and analysis of masted structures and covers examples that have evolved during the past three decades masted structures are one of the most interesting developments in post war architecture resulting from a combination of technology structural engineering theory and a collaboration between architects and engineers this is an essential guide for architects to the structural and constructional implications of masted forms in relation to space enclosure patterns of loading and use of differing materials and techniques this useful volume will enable architects and engineers to understand the origins development and nature of masted structures and will provide a stimulating basis for future design in the late summer of 1967 several patients suffering from a severe disease were admitted to the department of medicine of the marburg university it soon became obvious that the illness was a hitherto unknown infectious disease the number of afflicted patients increased to 23 several cases were observed in frankfurt main at the same time and some weeks later also in belgrade yugo slavia common to all the patients was previous contact with the blood or tissues of cercopithecus aethiops the vervet monkey altogether 31 people became ill and 7 died it was soon apparent that the infectious agent was neither bacterial nor rickettsial in origin but that a viral etiology was probable most of the known viral diseases were excluded and the infectious agent was shown to be a hitherto unknown virus with many peculiar characteristics it infects guinea pigs but not adult mice and is larger than known viruses and of different shape this agent was called the marburg virus since most of the cases had occurred in marburg and the greater part of the laboratory work leading to the detection of the virus was performed in marburg
