Metaphor in Cognitive Linguistics 1999-06-15 this book contains a selection of refereed and revised papers originally presented at the 5th iclc after an introduction by the editors the book opens with a long needed chapter on historical precedents for the cognitive linguistic theory of metaphor two chapters demonstrate the method of lexical analysis of linguistic metaphors and how it can be fruitfully applied to a characterization of the conceptual domains of smell and economics three chapters deal with theoretical aspects of conceptual metaphor one of which is a commissioned chapter on the relation between conceptual metaphor theory and conceptual blending finally there are five chapters presenting novel theoretical issues and empirical findings about the relation between conceptual metaphor and culture this book is hence a wide ranging sample of current approaches to metaphor in cognitive linguistics with some chapters breaking new grounds for future research

The Ubiquity of Metaphor 1985-01-01 this volume brings together a number of articles representative of the present outlook on the importance of metaphors and of the work done on metaphors in several domains of psycho linguistics the first part of the volume deals with metaphor and the system of language the second part offers papers on metaphor and language use in the third part psychological and psycholinguistic aspects of metaphor are discussed meaning can be used outside of their natural environment words and their meaning can be transferred to a different domain the name for such a transfer is metaphor this paper will highlight lakoff s and johnson s major claim that metaphor is not only a poetic device or simply a linguistic matter of spoken words but that our ordinary conceptual system in terms of which we both think and act is fundamentally metaphorical in nature lakoff johnson 1980 3 i shall explain some of the most important devices of their theory such as target source and mapping and briefly elucidate the systematicity that underlies metaphorical conceptualization the analysis of the conceptual metaphor love is a journey will reveal some ambiguities about lakoff s and johnson s theory by doing this i will consider some of the major critiques and analyze whether there is an underlying conceptual metaphoric system in our everyday language

Metaphor, Cognition and Culture 2005 metaphor though not now the scholarly mania it once was remains a topic of great interest in many disciplines albeit with interesting shifts in emphasis warren shibles metaphor an annotated bibliography and history bloomington ind 1971 recorded the initial interest then metaphor a bibliography of post 1970 publications published by john benjamins continued the record through the mania years up to 1985 when writings proliferated as metaphor was seen to be a fundamental category in human thought and language five years later there is a need for a report on the newest thinking and tendencies in the field this need is fulfilled by metaphor ii which offers a comprehensive view of information which would otherwise remain scattered throughout a numbing plethora of resources including many sometimes hard to find publications from eastern europe metaphor ii systematically collects references of books articles and papers published between 1985 and may 1990 and includes for completeness corrections and additions to the earlier bibliographies abstracts are given for many of the titles while four indices disciplines semantic fields metaphor theory and names multiply the number of access points to the information

Metaphor II 1990-01-01 seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade 1 university of vienna anglistik language english abstract the main questions that arise given this way of thinking about the connection between metaphor and culture are on the one hand to what extent do people share their metaphors which at first seemingly trivial becomes much more significant and interesting if we ourselves to what extent do people around the world share their understandings of images and aspects of the world they live in these questions are of particular interest to me and were decisive for me regarding the selection of the topic of this paper in fact the field of metaphor and culture comprises many subtopics such as for instance universality in metaphorical conceptualization cross cultural and within cultural variation in metaphor conceptual metaphors and their linguistic expression in different languages metaphor and cultural models or the causes of metaphor variation since i did not want to be too general in this paper and also wanted to give insight into some practical aspects of the topic i decided to concentrate on a two specific subtopics and deal with them in greater detail in the first part the paper will shed light on a study by talebinejad dastjerdi s 2005 who chose animal metaphors for the comparison in two typologically different languages namely english and persian the second part of this paper will address the causes of variation in metaphor whereas the focus lies exclusively on the field of differential experience

Metaphor and Culture 2010-05 research paper from the year 2010 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade 1 university of vienna language english abstract in this paper i will discuss two different approaches investigating the nature of language and the relation between language and thought 1 the sapir whorf hypothesis also called theory of linguistic relativity and 2 the metaphor approach of lakoff and johnson 1980 both theories had a major impact on the scientific community when they were published and sparked important research but also major controversy and debate among many scholars the main reason for their controversial reception was that both theories called into question the very foundation of the dominant view on language and thought which is still very much alive the present paper is divided into six chapters after this introduction the second chapter will outline the traditional objectivist view of fixed meaning and metaphor which is still prevalent in western societies in the third chapter i will briefly portray the sapir whorf hypothesis the fourth chapter will deal with lakoff and johnson s approach to understanding language in the following chapter i reflect on both theory complexes try to apply my theoretical knowledge and point out the similarities and differences of both approaches furthermore i will try to suggest a few ideas around which both approaches could be combined the sixth chapter is an evaluation as already indicated above the current paper will be shaped by the two central questions does language influence or even determine the way we think how important is the concept of metaphor when investigating the everyday use of language

Metaphor and the Sapir-Whorf-Hypothesis 2010-03-18 this book demonstrates how metaphor needs to be researched using multiple methods of investigation

Researching and Applying Metaphor 1999-02-11 seminar paper from the year 2002 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade 1 3 ruhr university of bochum course hauptseminar linguistik language english abstract classical theorists since aristotle have referred to metaphor as an instance of novel poetic language in which words likemother night andgoare not used in their normal everyday meaning metaphor was considered as a matter of language not a matter of thought it was assumed that in everyday language there was no metaphor and that metaphor used mechanisms which were not used in conventional language this theory was taken as a definition the wordmetaphorwas defined as a linguistic expression in which one or more words for a concept are used outside of the conventional meaning to express a similar concept from a linguistic point of view one has to ask what these generalizations governing the linguistic expression are trying to answer this question the classical theory turns out to be false the generalizations are not in language but in thought they can be seen as general mappings across conceptual domains these conceptual mappings do not only apply to poetic expressions but also in everyday language as a result metaphor is a central aspect of ordinary language semantics everyday metaphor consists of a large number of cross domain mappings which are used in novel metaphor so when studying literary metaphor it is an extension of the study of everyday metaphor this paper will also show that the idea of metaphor is not limited to linguistics but also concerns many areas of life and how we understand the world

Metaphor 1994 seminar paper from the year 2004 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade 1 0 university of frankfurt main institut für england und amerikastudien course verbal and pictorial metaphor in political and advertising discourse language english abstract the word metaphor has its origin in the greek word metaphorá a noun meaning a transfer especially in meaning from one word to another it comes ultimately from the verb metaphérein transfer carry over composed of meta over across and phérein carry bear cf the cambridge encyclopaedia 1990 metaphor throughout the centuries theorists have tried to define general rules for this transfer in meaning and have generally considered possible underlying mechanisms of this fascinating phenomenon the early theories dating back in history as far as aristotle's times see metaphor as a figure of speech and therefore a language phenomenon this view remained dominant until the middle of the 20th century when cognitive linguists proposed that the locus of metaphor is not language but thought and therefore developed a whole new approach to metaphor in the last decades some authors have also extended these findings from verbal metaphor to the realm of pictorial metaphor in the first part of this paper i will give an overview of the development of these theories i will put special emphasis on the contemporary theories of metaphor and especially those which deal with instances of so called creative metaphor i have selected those approaches which are most relevant for my analysis of a selection of press advertisements involving pictorial and verbal pictorial metaphor which follows in the second part of this paper

The Conceptual Metaphor 2006-07-10 the aim of the present bibliography is to provide the student of metaphor with an up to date and comprehensive albeit not exhaustive overview of recent publications dealing with various aspects of metaphor in a variety of disciplines where the emphasis is primarily on specific works about metaphor mainly in philosophy linguistics and psychology the list has been supplemented with references to studies where metaphor is explicitly recognized as an instrument of research or analysis e g in literature or in the elaboration of scientific and religious models or where its use is illustrated

Verbal and pictorial metaphor in advertisement 2006-07-18 it has become increasingly clear that metaphor needs to be explored in terms of the social and discourse context in which it is used especially where the aim is to address real world problems the notion of real world metaphor research has been developed to describe this important area of investigation this book starts by describing the nature and scope of real world metaphor research and then illustrates through 17 detailed mainly empirically based studies the different areas it can apply to and different methodologies that can be employed research problems are explored in areas such as artificial intelligence language teaching and learning reconciliation dialogue university lecture discourse poetry and wine description methods include corpus analysis experimentation discourse analysis cross cultural analysis and genre analysis in each case the empirical studies refer back to gibbs s opening overview of real world research the result is an invaluable and cross referenced collection of papers addressing real world problems

Metaphors we Love by 2007-01-12 seminar paper from the year 2018 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade 1 3 uni jena de language english abstract the example of the common metaphor life is a rollercoaster portrays how even such a simple form of the versatile device communicates a profound message and helps us language users to grasp an abstract concept metaphor however is not just a linguistic device it is indeed fundamental in everyday life lakoff and johnson 3 even in the medium of film people make use of the device in the form of filmic metaphor in all these different instances the omnipresent device allows us to understand and grasp abstract concepts by mapping them to another domain pixar s inside out is a valuable example of how metaphor in film is used the comedy drama introduces five little figures who are embodiments of the five basic human emotions and live in a young girls head in the following paper i will analyse the movie inside out as an example of how metaphor in film is used to communicate and clarify human emotions prior to the investigation of the device in the computer animated movie a theoretical view on metaphor in general will be provided on this occasion i will present a rough overview of the conceptual metaphor theory the concept of metaphor will then be elaborated in reference to film metaphor subsequently i will apply the theoretical basis to the movie inside out pixar s use of metaphor in the comedy drama will be analysed in detail with the focus on the following emotions joy sadness and anger i will demonstrate how the metaphor of emotion and brain function is displayed in the movie furthermore the metaphorical visualisation of growing up will be addressed

Metaphor II 1990-01-01 research paper undergraduate from the year 2020 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade 1 3 lmu munich language english abstract the paper at hand is meant to contribute to lakoff and johnson s stance on how mundane yet abstract domains are understood in terms of another more concretely realized concept with the analysis of a distinct corpus of popular love songs from the 1960ies until today the manifold interpretations and utilizations of the love is fire metaphor will be investigated to outline the extent of the scientific contribution and of the present paper itself the following bullet points give a description of the major aims of my research explaining the love is fire metaphor and proving its cognitive comprehensibility in lakoff and johnson s understanding of a conceptual metaphor providing evidence of the significance of the metaphor by naming and analyzing love metaphors in a selected corpus of popular love songs from the 1960ies up until now proving its conventionality and its wide spectrum of meaning its presence makes us feel warm its absence makes us freeze from within the rather abstract notion of what love is can be conceptualized in many different yet oftentimes sensorily tangible ways lakoff and johnson already proposed in their groundbreaking work metaphors we live by 1980 how highly abstract concepts such as love can become graspable through conceptual metaphors and their mapping between target and source domains lakoff and johnson 1980 quite vividly illustrate how extensive and oftentimes subconsciously established the use of conceptual metaphors appear in everyday language especially when it comes to everyday mundane topics like the omnipresent concept of love in the tradition of the post lakoff and johnsonian wave of linguistic studies on mundane conceptual metaphors like argument and time this paper reworks the metaphorical concept of love as a sensorily tangible sensation best pronounced by the formula love is fire via analyzing popular love song lyrics which draw comparisons between the inexplicable sensation of love and the actual bodily sensation of heat which both seem interconnected within the anglophone music culture of at least the past 50 years

2018-08-30 seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject english language and literature studies linguistics grade 2 3 rwth aachen university institut für anglistik amerikanistik und romanistik course hauptseminar metaphor in cognitive and systemic functional frameworks language english abstract this term paper deals with the topic of grammatical metaphors with a special focus on grammatical metaphors of the ideational kind and their use in certain registers to define grammatical metaphor as well as explain and analyze their use i will take a closer look at the works of several researchers and linguists with m a k halliday being the most important one of these given it was halliday who first coined the term grammatical metaphor and tried to give a detailed explanation of the concept his works will be the most vital to this paper and stand at its center further it is impossible to take a detailed look on grammatical metaphor without having at least a basic understanding on halliday's concept of systemic functional linguistics sfl therefore one chapter of this paper will take a closer look at sfl and basically explain this concept the questions this paper is supposed to answer are the following what are ideational grammatical metaphors in which registers are they used most frequently and what is the purpose or function of such metaphors in these registers

The Social Use of Metaphor 1977 the book elaborates one of roman jakobson's many brilliant ideas i.e. his insight that the two cognitive strategies of the metaphoric and the metonymic are the end points on a continuum of conceptualization processes this elaboration is achieved on the background of lakoff and johnson's twodomain approach i.e. the mapping of a source onto a target domain of conceptualization further approaches dwell on different stretches of this metaphor metonymy continuum still other papers probe into the specialized conceptual division of labor associated with both modes of thought two new breakthroughs in the cognitive linguistics approach to metaphor and metonymy have recently been developed one is the three domain approach which concentrates on the new blends that become possible after the integration or the blending of source and target domain elements the other is the approach in terms of primary scenes and subscenes which often determine the way source and target domains interact

The "Love is Fire" Metaphor in Selected Popular Music. Lakoff and Johnson's Understanding of a Conceptual Metaphor in "Metaphors We Live By" (1980) 2020-06-29 this collection of papers presents different views on metaphor in communication the overall aim is to show that the communicative dimension of metaphor cannot be reduced to its conceptual and/or linguistic dimension the volume addresses two main questions does the communicative dimension of metaphor have specific features that differentiate it from its linguistic and cognitive dimensions and how could these specific properties of communication change our understanding of the linguistic and cognitive dimensions of metaphor the authors of the papers collected in this volume offer answers to these questions that raise new interests in metaphor and communication

Ideational Grammatical Metaphors. Metaphor and Metonymy in Comparison and Contrast 2002 this collection of papers presents some recent trends in metaphor studies that propose new directions of research on the embodied cognition perspective the overall volume in particular shows how the embodied cognition still remains a relevant approach in a multidisciplinary research on the communicative side of metaphors by focusing on both comprehension processes in science as well as learning processes in education

Metaphor in Communication, Science and Education 2017-08-07 the papers in this volume deal with the issue of how corpus data relate to the questions that cognitive linguists have typically investigated with respect to conceptual mappings the authors in this volume investigate a wide range of issues the coherence and function of particular metaphorical models the interaction of form and meaning the identification of source domains of metaphorical expressions the relationship between metaphor and discourse the priming of metaphors and the historical development of metaphors the studies deal with a variety of metaphorical and metonymic source and target domains including the source domains space animals body parts organizations and war and the target domains verbal activity economy emotions and politics in their studies the authors present a variety of corpus linguistic methods for the investigation of conceptual mappings for example corpora annotated for semantic categories concordances of individual source domain items and patterns and concordances of target domain items in sum the papers in this volume show how a wide range of corpus linguistic methods can be used to investigate a variety of issues in cognitive linguistics the combination of corpus methods with a cognitive linguistic view of metaphor and metonymy yields new answers to old questions and to new questions about the relationship between language as a conceptual phenomenon and language as a textual phenomenon

Metaphor 2017-06-29 seminar paper from the year 2014 in the subject american studies linguistics grade 1 7 university of marburg language english abstract when it comes to framing the war linguistically metaphors have always been key for many politicians in conveying their message and distinguishing in a simplistic manner between good and evil employing metaphors in political discourse helps politicians simplify their content and make the audience understand their message more clearly as lakoff notes abstractions and enormously complex situations are routinely understood via metaphor 1991 25 lakoff further describes the use of metaphors as something not necessarily good or bad but rather depicts it as a stylistic device that is widely common even in everyday language therefore it seems highly interesting to look even closer at how metaphors are being used in the context of war related speech in the united states the focus of this paper will be on metaphors used in the state of the union address since i assume that the latter is perfectly suited for an exemplary analysis of how war related metaphors are constructed and which specific purpose they serve procedures for metaphor translation conceived within the context of descriptive translation studies and puts forward a possible resolution to the debate on metaphor translatability

Metaphor - The Structure of the Domain "Anger" 2007-07-09 seminar paper from the year 2017 in the subject speech science linguistics grade 2 3 lmu munich anglistik language english abstract in this paper i will first explain what the term metaphor means and highlight the claim that it is not only a poetic device but that conceptual metaphors are pervasive in our everyday life and have a brief look at the sapir whorf hypothesis in the second part i will explain in detail what metaphorical framing is how it works and what the pros and cons of metaphorical framing are to that end i am going to include two series of experiments concerning metaphorical framing of crime and climate change from thibodeau and boroditsky and wolsko et al giving a short overview about their findings throughout time the metaphor has always been an object of interest and one of the reasons might be that our mind is a connecting organ it works only by connecting and it can connect any two things in an indefinitely large number of different ways charteris black 2014 so as lakoff and johnson argue metaphors are eminent in our brains the way our conceptual system and therefore our mind works how we think argue and reason and exactly because of that our brain can also be manipulated by metaphor it is not only a linguistic concept but an important influence on how we think and behave headlines like why won't the world tackle the refugee crisis or two summits this week will try to address the 65 million displaced and 20 million in danger but they are under fire before talks have even begun mcveigh and townsend seem to be normal to us when indeed they are heavily loaded with negative connotations and war metaphors this use of metaphors to influence people's way of thinking is called metaphorical framing

Corpus-Based Approaches to Metaphor and Metonymy 2008-08-22 seminar paper from the year 2003 in the subject english language and literature studies literature grade 2 0 university of tbingen neuphilologie course understanding utterances language english abstract for many people it seems that the application and analysis of metaphors only belongs to the field of literary studies there are however such a large number of metaphorical expressions and lexicalized so called frozen metaphors in both german and english that the importance of metaphors exceeds by far their poetic usage for grice metaphors result from the flouting of the first maxim quality that of not saying what one believes to be false metaphorical expressions hence provoke a search for the intended speaker meaning because of the obvious discrepancy between the proposition expressed by the utterance and the falseness of its content this falseness however is not always clear to see take for example the metaphor no man is an island it is obviously metaphorical in both content and meaning and one could deduce a whole range of weak implicatures from it but it is in no way literally false considering that grice labelled tropes and figures of speech such as tautology irony and metaphor as cases of maxim exploitation it seems reasonable to analyse a text which allows for a maximum of maxim exploitation and whose author is responsible for a large number of frozen metaphors in english what makes shakespeare to name just one example extraordinary is the way he exploited this ordinary aspect of communication so that a single line or phrase triggers the discovery of a whole array of implicatures the centre of this paper will thus be a linguistic analysis of metaphors and implicatures in shakespeare s play much ado about nothing

2016-08-04 metaphor which allows us to talk about things by comparing them to other things is one of the most ubiquitous and adaptable features of language and thought it allows us to clarify meaning yet also evaluate and transform the ways we think create and act while we are alert to metaphor in spoken or written texts it has within the visual arts been critically overlooked taking into consideration how metaphors are inventively embodied in the formal technical and stylistic aspects of visual artworks mark staff brandl shows how extensively artists rely on creative metaphor within their work exploring the work of a broad variety of artists including dawoud bey dan ramirez gaëlle villedary raoul deal sonya clark titus kaphar charles boetschi and more he argues that metaphors are the foundation of visual thought are chiefly determined by bodily and environmental experiences and are embodied in artistic form visual artistic creation is philosophical thought by grounding these arguments in the work of philosophers and cultural theorists including Noël Carroll Hans Georg Gadamer and George Lakoff Brandl shows how important metaphor is to understanding contemporary art a philosophy of visual metaphor in contemporary art takes a neglected feature of the visual arts and shows us what a vital role it plays within them bridging theory and practice and drawing upon a capacious array of examples this book is essential reading for art historians and practitioners as well as analytic philosophers working in aesthetics and meaning
