Keeping Up with the Joneses 2013-04-19 a century ago many americans condemned envy as a destructive emotion and a sin today few americans expect criticism when they express envy and some commentators maintain that the emotion drives the economy this shift in attitude is susan matt s central concern keeping up with the joneses envy in american consumer society 1890 1930 examines a key transition in the meaning of envy for the american middle class although people certainly have experienced envy throughout history the expansion of the consumer economy at the turn of the twentieth century dramatically reshaped the social role of the emotion matt looks at how different groups within the middle class men in white collar jobs bourgeois women farm families and children responded to the transformation in social and cultural life keeping up with the joneses traces how attitudes about envy changed as department stores mail order catalogs magazines movies and advertising became more prevalent and the mass production of imitation luxury goods offered middle and working class individuals the opportunity to emulate upper class life between 1890 and 1910 moralists sought to tame envy and emulation in order to uphold a moral economy and preserve social order they criticized the liberal capitalist preoccupation with personal striving and advancement and praised the virtue of contentment they admonished the bourgeoisie to be satisfied with their circumstances and cease yearning for their neighbors possessions after 1910 more secular commentators gained ground repudiating the doctrine of contentment and rejecting the notion that there were divinely ordained limits on what each class should possess they encouraged everyone to pursue the objects of desire envy was no longer a sin but a valuable economic stimulant the expansion of consumer economy fostered such institutions as department stores and advertising firms but it also depended on a transformation in attitudes and emotional codes matt explores the ways gender geography and age shaped this transformation bridging the history of emotions and the history of consumerism she uncovers the connection between changing social norms and the growth of the consumer economy

The Complete Concordance to Shakspeare 1845 philosophy has strayed away from its main task of clarifying proprieties of pursuits in human life and has got caught up in methodology logic and linguistics too much hair splitting is done about truth knowledge reality and language our main concerns should be duty beauty piety and complementarity substantial factors of fortuity and self earned conditions are simply not considered in political philosophy equality is too problematic to take it as an ethical principle justice is being over emphasized than non violence and prosperity almost in vain the disaster of scientific socialism had its roots in marxian theory itself antagonistic radicalisms including radical feminism are deepening the problems than solving them scientism materialist reductionism is under cutting the very sense of responsibility existentialist and post modernist traditions are leading to nowhere and only generating despair and sense of meaninglessness deep ecology is becoming anthropo phobic and blocking human progress religious dogmatisms and fundamentalisms cannot be fought with by merely refuting truth claims of their beliefs a non supernatural spirituology will have to earn therapeutic success over the clutches of religions any pair of required factors competing as well as complementary is a dialectical pair their balance has to be finely tuned and wisdom lies precisely there one sided thinking often destroys the balance and intensifies evils there is an eminent possibility of convergence towards universal humanist ethic and scope for common minimum program in spite of multitude of ethics in short there is a possibility of a constructive ameliorative and reconciliatory path for humanity at this juncture of human history

On Complementarity 2020-05-09 this is a how to book it teaches the liberation of the mind not as a mind boggling theory but as a very basic skill that starts with keeping the breath in mind the teachings here are drawn from the works of ajaan lee dhammadharo 1906 61 one of thailand s most renowned teachers of buddhist meditation practices ajaan lee was a forest monk one who prefers to live in the seclusion of the forest and makes meditation the central theme of his practice so his teachings grow out of personal practical experience although he also makes a point of relating them to standard buddhist doctrine
