British Librarianship and Information Work 1991-2000 2006-01-01 this book reviews efforts to control hazardous chemicals from the early 1970s into the very beginning of the 1990s many of the issues which were hotly debated 15 years earlier are still on the national agenda and are surrounded with more controversy than ever before the emphasis is on environmental goals and on general policies and approaches in search of these goals at the same time environmental issues teem with controversy over details in the fine print of the laws in the federal register announcements of new regulations in enforcement orders and in court rulings in the environmental field the gaps are enormous between the politicians the experts and the public in understanding the facts in recognizing the uncertainties in developing a basis for reaching decisions laden with value judgments and in translating these judgments into implementation activities

however the goals must be clear even to identify the important facts and uncertainties themselves and to frame the judgments which must be made if a consensus cannot be reached on the appropriate goals and objectives then the nation is in serious trouble the importance of such a consensus is underscored by one industrial estimate that each american family already pays 150 per month in direct and hidden environmental costs expenditures which we can ill afford to misdirect

Borrowed Earth, Borrowed Time 2013-11-09 as featured on bbc radio 4 s start the week a rich timely study for the era of global ageing nature the ageing of the world population is one of the most important issues facing humanity in the 21st century up there with climate change in its potential global impact sometime before 2020 the number of people over 65 worldwide will for the first time be greater than the number of 0 4 year olds and it will keep on rising the strains this is causing on society are already evident as health and social services everywhere struggle to cope with the care needs of the elderly but why and how do we age scientists have been asking this question for centuries yet there is still no agreement there are a myriad competing theories from the idea that our bodies simply wear out with the rough and tumble of living like well worn shoes or a rusting car to the belief that ageing and death are genetically programmed and controlled in borrowed time sue armstrong tells the story of science s quest to understand ageing and to prevent or delay the crippling conditions so often associated with old age she focusses inward on what is going on in our bodies at the most basic level of the cells and genes as the years pass to look for answers to why and how our skin wrinkles with age our wounds take much longer to heal than they did when we were kids and why words escape us at crucial moments in conversation this book explores these questions and many others through interviews with key scientists in the field of gerontology and with people who have interesting and important stories to tell about their personal experiences of ageing
