family life and teen culture has changed radically many of the familiar cultural reference points from their own youth are no longer relevant to 21st century parenting of course it s only to be expected that each generation kicks against the culture and values of the one it follows today such to be expected rebellious tendencies have been heavily amplified by the digital revolution and living in the now the generation that was born since the turn of the century has only ever known the digital age a period of sustained and fast moving technological change that has outstripped the industrial revolution of the 18th and 19th centuries in its far reaching effects on most areas of life and society in the ten years since 2010 the teen picture in the uk has altered considerably due in the main to the explosion in use of smart phones and social media tobacco consumption has become the norm rather than the exception as it was with previous generations smoking weed cannabis and taking recreational drugs have replaced alcohol as the recreational substances of choice many young people say that they find it easier to obtain cannabis than virtually anything else including fast food cigarettes and alcohol teenage mental health has become an issue gender change and fluidity and sexual promiscuity are widely accepted by this age group teens live their lives online as opposed to offline and face to face social interaction is more often through texting image sharing messaging apps and gaming stations they live in the moment short bursts of communication bite size video clips understanding the teen world and the pressures facing them means that parents will be more informed and better placed to intervene or help when they re needed the unofficial studio one user s
