how new york s lower east side inspired new ways of seeing america new york city s lower east side long viewed as the space of what jacob riis notoriously called the other half was also a crucible for experimentation in photography film literature and visual technologies this book takes an unprecedented look at the practices of observation that emerged from this critical site of encounter showing how they have informed literary and everyday narratives of america its citizens and its possible futures taking readers from the mid nineteenth century to the present sara blair traces the career of the lower east side as a place where image makers writers and social reformers tested new techniques for apprehending america and their subjects looked back confronting the means used to represent them this dynamic shaped the birth of american photojournalism the writings of stephen crane and abraham cahan and the forms of early cinema during the 1930s the emptying ghetto opened contested views of the modern city animating the work of such writers and photographers as henry roth walker evans and ben shahn after world war ii the lower east side became a key resource for imagining poetic revolution as in the work of allen ginsberg and leroi jones and exploring dystopian futures from cold war atomic strikes to the death of print culture and the threat of climate change how the other half looks reveals how the lower east side has inspired new ways of looking and looking back that have shaped literary and popular expression as well as american modernity by carefully conceptualising the domestic in relation to the self and the photographic this book offers a unique contribution to both photography theory and criticism and life narrative studies jane simon brings together two critical practices into a new conversation arguing that artists who harness domestic photography can advance a more expansive understanding of the autobiographical exploring the idea that self representation need not equate to self portraiture or involve the human form artists from around the globe are examined including rinko kawauchi catherine opie dayanita singh moyra davey and elina brotherus who maintain a personal gaze at domestic detail by treating the representation of interiors domestic objects and the very practice of photographic seeing and framing as autobiographical gestures this book reframes the relationship between interiors and exteriors public and private and insists on the importance of domestic interiors to understandings of the self and photography the book will be of interest to scholars working in photographic history and theory art history and visual studies

recent decades have seen a flourishing interest in and speculation about the origins of photography spurred by rediscoveries of first photographs and proclamations of photography s death in the digital age scholars have been rethinking who and what invented the medium photography and its origins reflects on this interest in photography s beginnings by reframing it in critical and specifically historiographical terms how and why do we write about the origins of the medium whom or what do we rely on to construct those narratives what s at stake in choosing to tell stories of photography s genesis in one way or another and what kind of work can those stories do edited by tanya sheehan and andrés mario zervigón this collection of 16 original essays illustrated with 32 colour images showcases prominent and emerging voices in the field of photography studies their research cuts across disciplines and methodologies shedding new light on old questions about histories and their writing photography and its origins will serve as a valuable resource for students and scholars in art history visual and media studies and the history of science and technology
