the concept of human dignity has a 2500 year history as it moved through history the concept was been influenced by different religions which held it as an important component of their theological approach it was also influenced by the views of philosophers who developed human dignity in their contemplations in the 20th century the concept encountered a new phenomenon the atrocities of the second world war and particularly the holocaust of the jewish people brought human dignity into the forefront of legal discourse as a result constitutional and international legal texts began to adopt the concept and jurists appeared alongside the theologians and the philosophers legal scholars were called upon to determine the theoretical basis of human dignity as a constitutional value and as a constitutional right judges were required to solve practical problems created by the constitutionalization of human dignity as a value or as a right this study addresses two desiderata of historical emotion research reflecting on the interdependence of textual functions and the representation of emotions and acknowledging the interdependence of studies on the premodern and modern periods in the history of emotion contemporary research on the history of emotion is characterised by a proliferation of studies on very different eras authors themes texts and aspects the enthusiasm and confidence with which situations actions and interactions involving emotions in history are discovered however has led to overly direct attempts to access the represented objects emotions feelings affects as a result too little attention has been paid to the conditions and functions of their representations that is why this study engages with the emotion research of historians from an unashamedly philological perspective such an approach provides among other things insights into the varied often contradictory observations that can be made about the history of emotion in modernity and premodernity
