how to get more innovation and more equality is economic inequality the price we pay for innovation the amazing technological advances of the last two decades in such areas as artificial intelligence genetics and materials have benefited society collectively and rewarded innovators handsomely we get cool smartphones and technology moguls become billionaires this contributes to a growing wealth gap in the united states the wealth controlled by the top 0 1 percent of households equals that of the bottom ninety percent is this the inevitable cost of an innovation driven economy economist joshua gans and policy maker andrew leigh make the case that pursuing innovation does not mean giving up on equality precisely the opposite in this book they outline ways that society can become both more entrepreneurial and more egalitarian all innovation entails uncertainty there s no way to predict which new technologies will catch on therefore gans and leigh argue rather than betting on the future of particular professions we should consider policies that embrace uncertainty and protect people from unfavorable outcomes to this end they suggest policies that promote both innovation and equality if we encourage innovation in the right way our future can look more like the cheerful techno utopia of star trek than the dark techno dystopia of the terminator

Use Case Modeling 2003

this book is the result of a group of researchers from different disciplines asking themselves one question what does it take to develop a computer interface that listens talks and can answer questions in a domain first obviously it takes specialized modules for speech recognition and synthesis human interaction management dialogue input fusion and multimodal output fusion basic question understanding and answer finding while all modules are researched as independent subfields this book describes the development of state of the art modules and their integration into a single working application capable of answering medical encyclopedic questions such as how long is a person with measles contagious or how can i prevent rsi the contributions in this book which grew out of the imix project funded by the netherlands organisation for scientific research document the development of this system but also address more general issues in natural language processing such as the development of multidimensional dialogue systems the acquisition of taxonomic knowledge from text answer fusion sequence processing for domain specific entity recognition and syntactic parsing for question answering together they offer an overview of the most important findings and lessons learned in the scope of the imix project making the book of interest to both academic and commercial developers of human machine interaction systems in dutch or any other language highlights include integrating multi modal input fusion in dialogue management van schooten and op den akker state of the art approaches to the extraction of term variants van der plas tiedemann and fahmi tjong kim sang hofmann and de rijke and multi modal answer fusion two chapters by van hooijdonk bosma krahmer maes theune and marsi watch the imix movie at nwo nl imix film like ibm s watson the imix system described in the book gives naturally phrased responses to naturally posed questions where watson can only generate synthetic speech the imix system also recognizes speech on the other hand watson is able to win a television quiz while the imix system is domain specific answering only to medical questions the netherlands has always been one of the leaders in the general field of human language technology and imix is no exception it was a very ambitious program with a remarkably successful performance leading to interesting results the teams covered a remarkable amount of territory in the general sphere of multimodal question answering and information
