for more than 40 years the radically subjective style of participatory journalism known as gonzo has been inextricably associated with the american writer hunter s thompson around the world however other journalists approach unconventional material in risky ways placing themselves in the middle of off beat stories and relate those accounts in the supercharged rhetoric of gonzo in some cases thompson s influence is apparent even explicit in others writers have crafted their journalistic provocations independently only later to have that work labelled gonzo in either case gonzo journalism has clearly become an international phenomenon in fear and loathing worldwide scholars from fourteen countries discuss writers from europe the americas africa and australia whose work bears unmistakable traces of the mutant gonzo gene in each chapter gonzo emerges as a powerful but unstable signifier read and practiced with different accents and emphases in the various national cultural political and journalistic contexts in which it has erupted whether immersed in the dutch crack scene exploring the polish version of route 66 following the trail of the 2014 south african general election or committing unspeakable acts on the bus to turku the writers described in this volume are driven by the same fearless disdain for convention and profound commitment to rattling received opinion with which the outlaw journalist thompson scorched his way into the american consciousness in the 1960s 70s and beyond this book examines the connections between two disparate yet persistently bound thematics mobility and intoxication and explores their central yet frequently misunderstood role in constructing subjectivity following the 1960s emerging from profound mid twentieth century changes in how drugs and travel were imagined the conceptual nexus discussed sheds new light on british and north american responses to sixties counterculture with readings of aldous huxley william burroughs alex garland hunter s thompson and robert sedlack banco traces twin arguments looking at the ways travel is imagined as a disciplinary force acting upon the creative destabilizing powers of psychedelic intoxication and exploring the ways drugs help construct travel spaces and practices as at times revolutionary and at other times neo colonial by following a sequence of shifting understandings of drug and travel orthodoxies this book traverses fraught and irresistibly linked terrains from the late 1950s up to a period marked by international postmodern tourism as such it helps illuminate a world where tourism is continually expanding yet constantly circumscribed and where illegal drugs are both increasingly unregulated in the global economy and perceived more and more as crucial agents in the construction of human subjectivity
