the idea of a state religion is seldom connected to religious freedom and liberal modern and democratic states however such a situation existed in norway until 2012 when the lutheran church was the state church of norway a large majority of the population belonged to the church even though the percentage in 2013 had fallen to well over seventy five the relationship between the church and minority religious movements demanded adaptation and compromises from the minority churches the salvation army s enculturation and accommodation during its 128 year history in norway illustrates such a situation the book examines how the salvation army accommodated itself both doctrinally as well as practically to the situation of a dominant state church the study reveals such a close affiliation of salvationists to the norwegian church as a state institution that it raises the question of whether a concept of civil religion was implicitly present in salvationists view of the state church and their own adherence to the church this situation also raises the question of what constitutes a real church the book indicates the tension between lutheran and salvationist ecclesiology as well as the influence from the lutheran church in this chapter we described issues in conducting intervention research with students with learning disabilities on the secondary level we main tained that interventions should be well grounded in theories of learning as well as characterizations of learning disabilities pressley scruggs mastropieri 1989 that they should first be conducted in a series of highly controlled laboratory like experiments to carefully assess the potential utility of the intervention and that if the intervention is suc cessful in highly controlled settings it should then be evaluated in class room applications we maintained that research designs should evolve as the research questions become more applied and that the results of laboratory research should be used to support the findings of classroom applications finally we described several research designs that we have found useful in conducting classroom intervention research there is a great deal more to conducting intervention research of course than experimental or quasi experimental design intervention strategies likely to be effective must be identified relevant literature must be reviewed experimental materials must be developed and cooperative schools teachers parents and students must be located nevertheless inadequate research designs can invalidate the best and most successful efforts in all of these areas while effective and practical research designs can do much to document the best practices and advance our knowledge of effective interventions with students with learning disabilities references brigham f j scruggs t e mastropieri m a 1992
